Material Decrease in Number of Cases Reported in This City Today

Statement Issued by Board of Health Regarding Law Governing Disease

A marked decrease in the number of new cases reported at the board of health office was the most encouraging feature of today's influenza epidemic developments locally.

Up to the noon hour only 134 cases were recorded which is the best Monday record that has been established for some time. Usually, there is an in-pouring of cases Monday and Tuesday following meagre reports on Sunday. But today there was no such influx and while the health authorities are not making any rash predictions, they believe that the disease is on the decline here.

Today's figure compares favorably with those of Saturday and Sunday. On Saturday, 189 new cases were reported and yesterday 91. Last Monday no less than 454 cases were recorded and the Monday before, 533.

Therefore, today's comparatively low Monday figure is most encouraging from every viewpoint. The total number of cases to date from the beginning of the epidemic is 5268. Six more deaths were reported this morning, bringing the total to 217.

To the Public

At a meeting of the board of health held this morning it was voted to make public certain extracts from the

Spanish Influenza Record

Not one of the one hundred and twenty-five persons who had been taking Vitalitas who were interviewed at the Dows Drug Store in Lowell, Mass., had Spanish influenza this does not say if you take Vitalitas you cannot have it, but we do say that you believe it is the greatest corrective and preventative on the market. Vitalitas drives out the toxic poisons, builds up the red blood corpuscles and gives to the human system strength to resist disease. We urge every one who has not tried the Vitalitas treatment to call at our store and talk to the Vitalitas man and let him explain the merits of this wonderful remedy. Get it today at the Dows Drug Store, Merrimack Square.—Adv.

Shorter Drug Hours

In order to conserve the strength of our prescription clerks, who are heavily taxed on account of the epidemic, our opening time has been changed as follows: Main store, Merrimack Square, 8.30 a. m. Sunday, 9 a. m.; branch store, Merrimack street, opposite St. Anne's church, 9 a. m. week days and Sundays.

THE FINAL WEEK

Local Liberty Loan Campaign on Last Lap of the Big Drive

City's Total $1,500,000 Below Quota—Boy Scouts Begin Their Campaign

Lowell entered upon her final week of the Fighting Fourth Liberty loan campaign today with the task of raising a million and a half dollars before Saturday night confronting her.

Early this afternoon the city's total was approximately $5,500,000. The quota is $7,000,000. When the banks close next Saturday evening at 9 o'clock the campaign will be over and before that time the city must decide whether it is to live up to its reputation or fall behind when victory is in sight.

The banks reported brisk sales today following a two-day lay-off. Many small subscriptions were recorded, but if the city is to go "over the top," the large bonds will have to be disposed of in greater numbers than has been the case to date.

Scouts at Work
The Boy Scouts opened their loan campaign today and the downtown streets were full of uniformed figures. The scouts are out to do a clean up job and any subscription that has been lying neglected so far in the drive will be scooped up by them.

From the Industries

Much is expected of the large industries today. The local committee cannot even estimate what is coming from this source, but there isn't the slightest doubt that the big plants will make their customary contribution to the grand finale.

At the United States Cartridge Co., where $400,000 has already been subscribed by the employees and officially reported, it is known that there is at least $125,000 more coming. More than 6500 employees have subscribed to the present issue of the loan.

As to Peace

The committee in charge of the local end of the campaign has issued a "peace overture" to the people of Lowell and the rest of northern Middlesex county in which it says: "If you sincerely wish peace, honorable peace, subscribe this week as you have never subscribed before for the Fighting Fourth Liberty loan."

At The Strand

A Liberty loan booth has been set up in the lobby of The Strand theatre in Central street and during the final week of the drive members of the men's and women's committees will be in charge to push along the sale of the patriotic securities. Cash or certified checks will be accepted in payment and the only other stipulation is that all credits must go to Lowell. Manager Selman has fitted up the booth and offered the use of the lobby.

INDUSTRIAL ACCIDENT

BOARD HEARING

A conference in the case of Thomas O'Connor, the groundman in the employ of the Lowell Electric Light corporation, who was electrocuted while in the performance of his duties in West Bowers street on Aug. 8 of this year, was held at city hall this afternoon at 1.30 with Chester E. Gleason of the industrial accident board presiding.

Patrick J. Reynolds represented Mrs. Sarah J. O'Connor of 38 Hudson street, the mother of the deceased, and the insurer, the Liberty Mutual Insurance Co., was represented by Fred Carroll.

APPEAL TO ALLIES TO

AID CZECHO-SLOVAKS

VLADIVOSTOK, Sunday, Oct. 13.—(By the Associated Press)—An appeal to the allies to avert the loss of Samara, and Yekaterinburg, as well as to revive the morale of the Czecho-Slovak forces fighting in eastern Russia, has been received here at allied headquarters. The situation there is said to be serious.

GREAT VICTORY

Laon Plateau at Last Won by Brilliant Maneuvers of Marshal Foch

Means Entire Ruin of the Entire German Defensive System Built in 1914

PARIS, Oct. 14.—Still another victory has been added to the long trail of glory blazed by the allied armies. The Laon plateau at last has been won, crowning the Cambrai-St. Quentin and Champagne offensives.

The maneuvers so skillfully elaborated by Marshal Foch and so ably carried out by Field Marshal Haig and General Petain enabled this great achievement to be accomplished without the loss inseparable from a direct attack.

The result is nothing less than the ruin of the entire defensive system built up by the German general staff since 1914, for the cornerstone of it was the Laon plateau.

It was on this plateau that the German line was pivoted. It was to turn it that the offensives of 1915 and 1918 were carried out. It was from it that the campaign of 1917 was launched. It was from it that the German offensive of 1918 was launched. Its fall is the prologue to the total liberation of France, for the progress made by the British in the vicinity of Douai puts the Germans in such a position that even if they can manage for a time to cling between Bohain and Soissons, "while they evacuate the pocket of which St. Gobain is the bottom, they will be obliged to get back along the frontier and it is more than likely that they will not even have time for that."

SCHOOL TEACHERS HELP

Local Teachers Will Assist in Overcoming the Influenza Epidemic

A meeting of the school department organization was called this morning at 10 o'clock in the high school hall, through a request by the board of health. Supt. Hugh J. Molloy opened the meeting and gave out the information that the teachers of Lowell represented in the 13 grammar school districts were requested to assist in canvassing the city, in order that the influenza epidemic may be more intelligently worked out, by means of regarding the exact status of each and every family, whether the inmates of the household are victims of the epidemic, or whether the germ has escaped the members living at home.

He spoke of the seriousness of the situation in brief, with the remarks, "As you all know, this is the greatest epidemic we have ever known. It is similar to the one experienced in 1890, only there are approximately seven times as many cases and deaths as then. It has struck Lowell and struck it hard. We have opened the tuberculosis hospital, and volunteers are coming across splendidly, only we have not yet all we need there. Any problem that you undertake you want to know what the size of the problem is. The only way is to make a house to house canvass. Therefore, when the superintendent of schools was called upon in this emergency he offered his services in carrying this survey through."

Miss Mildred F. Ashley, assistant to Dr. Simpson, representing the North Midland district of the state board of health was the next speaker. She gave an outline and detailed account of the manner in which the canvass is to be conducted. This will be done by a card system, two styles of cards being used, one white and one pink. The white card is to be used for recording the date, name and address of the family and only when all the members of the household are well. The pink ones are to be used to register the name of the head of the household, the number in the household, the address, the telephone number, the number well, the number sick, the number dead, and name and age; also for those sick at the present time, to state the medical aid needed, nurse's aid, or hospital aid, and how many are in need of this care. Then there is a line for remarks to be made by the teacher who has made this visit.

GRAZED BY GERMANS

The police were confronted by a very pathetic case yesterday afternoon, when a resident of this city, father of four children, was taken to the station to be kept under observation. This man's wife died last week and she left four children, all under 10 years of age. It seems that the man was so grieved over the death of his wife that he went insane and yesterday he was found in his home surrounded by his four little ones, singing funeral hymns. He was taken to the station and while under observation he continued to sing hymns. He was finally removed to the Chelmsford street hospital.

It was suggested by a teacher that the school children be taken in some districts to act as interpreters. Mr. Molloy then stated that bright children over 14 years of age would be found of valuable assistance in many cases.

Dr. Simpson was asked with reference to any danger being involved so far as the children were concerned, and answered that there was none. He said that the children need only go to the doorsteps and help in the conversation, and suggested that the teachers put their questions to school children at some homes where they call, rather than with parents who are unfamiliar with the English language.

The question also came up as to the danger of contagion as concerned the teachers. Dr. Simpson then gave out the information that the germ dies quickly and does not penetrate through the fresh air, but in order that precautionary measures be taken it was decided to secure a large quantity of masks from the Red Cross rooms and then it could be left to the judgment of the caller whether they considered it wise to wear same.

The teachers reported this afternoon between 1.30 and 2 o'clock at the various grammar schools, and the principals distributed the cards. They each took one or more streets. Mr. A. D. Mack, teacher of the commercial department at the high school, will receive statistics tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock and he will keep on file all the reports, at the high school annex.

He asked for the assistance of several high school teachers to carry out the work, and Principal Herbert D. Bixby then requested the remaining high school teachers to assemble downstairs after the meeting, so they might be assigned to different routes, in places left vacant on account of the sickness of some of the grammar school teachers.

The meeting closed with plans well under way for the detail work of the distribution of the cards, and the teachers were requested to meet at their schools to receive notification as to the streets and routes which they will take.

174 CENTRAL STREET

This Bank will be open Monday, October 14th, from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m.

The government of Germany in a note printed in this paper, makes reply to President Wilson's queries and offers to accept the terms of peace which he has outlined, and it further authorizes him to call for a mixed commission to arrange for the evacuation of the invaded territory. The authors of the note also claim that this proposition is concurred in by the representatives of the German people.

Let there be no misunderstanding of this unexpected step on the part of Germany. It is but a well devised scheme to secure a compromise peace or else to get time to rehabilitate the shattered armies of the empire, construct new battle lines and pile up munitions for a renewal of the war.

This note is sent out by the military authorities of Germany and in its preparation the people have had no part, although they undoubtedly want peace and they, like their military masters, must realize that the longer they hold out against the allies the worse will it be for Germany in the end.

This German note, therefore, comes from the Kaiser and his military authorities and is an ingenious and utterly Germanic mode of appealing for an armistice which would probably give Germany three or four months for military recuperation and for the construction of strong defenses along her frontiers, after which she could refuse to accept the allied terms and resume the war with the hope of carrying it forward with increased power of resistance for at least two years more.

The entire allies with one acclaim oppose any peace parley with Germany. They will be satisfied with nothing less than unconditional surrender and that alone will satisfy the American people.

President Wilson we are confident will repudiate this camouflage peace offer as coming from the military authorities who are wholly untrustworthy; but meantime, the American people can give their answer and give it emphatically by putting the Fourth Fighting Liberty loan over the top with all possible haste. The military power of Germany must be destroyed so that it will no longer be a menace to the peace of the world. The granting of an armistice at this time would defeat that purpose.

Col. House Joins in Conference

Colonel E. M. House, who accompanied the president last night on his return from New York, joined the conference. The only official intimation that has come regarding the probable course of the president is that he is sure to act quickly and positively. Everywhere in Washington, however, the confident belief prevailed that whatever might be the form of that action, it would not contemplate a cessation of hostilities nor negotiations for peace with the German government, except upon conditions amounting to unconditional surrender.

Asked to Suspend Judgment

Last night the government asked the American people to suspend judgment upon the German note until the president could consider it. If the note, as editorial comment coming from every corner of the country, the people already have made up their minds that there should be no temporizing with an enemy whose word is worth only what the various allied armies make it.

Get Views of Allied Premiers

It is assumed that since Saturday night at least informal exchanges have taken place between Washington and the capitals of the belligerents. Informed of the views of the allied premiers, the president may determine before the day is over whether his reply to the German request that he propose an armistice and peace negotiations shall be a refusal to make any such proposal at the instance of the present German government, or a renewed statement of the conditions under which peace must be restored.

near Belleau Woods on July 20. In the advance of the first wave, east from Belleau Woods, the Lowell soldier cleaned out, single-handed, a dugout of German machine guns.

Corp. Couston had been in the national guard for four years and was at the Mexican border several years ago. He went overseas in September, 1917. His parents are dead. The heroic soldier is 26 years old and has two brothers in the service. Wilfred enlisted in the Canadian forces at the age of 19 and another brother, Arthur, is in France, also. Friends of Corp. Couston received word from him about a month ago and at that time he was feeling fine. He has been "over the top" several times and was in the thick of the heavy fighting last July. He has come through it all without a scratch.

CHRISTMAS MAIL RULES

Regulations Governing Sending of Packages to Soldiers and Marines

Information relative to the sending of Christmas packages to soldiers overseas has been received at the Red Cross rooms on Market street, and the material for making the cartons to hold the gifts will soon be ready for distribution to the Lowell people who are desirous of making up an attractive Christmas bundle which will go to some soldier who perhaps would otherwise spend a lonely Christmas minus the pleasure of a gift. From present indications the necessary material may be secured on November 1, and people will be given an opportunity to call at the rooms from Nov. 1 until Nov. 20, and obtain same.

These army regulations will apply to members of the Marine Corps whose address is "American Expeditionary Force." For all other marines the ordinary naval regulations will govern the transmission of gift parcels. Packages for shipment abroad must be in the mail by Nov. 20, bearing the address tags to be obtained from local Red Cross chapters.

The war department will not accept more than one parcel for each man. The men themselves will decide who is to send these parcels. They are now receiving Christmas parcel labels, with instructions to mail these labels to the person in this country from whom they wish to receive the holiday box. Packages that do not bear these labels will not be accepted. In the event of this label being lost it cannot be replaced. The cardboard boxes, or cartons, to be provided for these parcels are 3x1x inches in size. When packed, wrapped and ready for mailing these boxes must not weigh more than three pounds.

The American Red Cross has agreed to provide these cardboard boxes and to supervise their distribution to relatives of the soldiers who present the proper Christmas parcel label credential. It will be incumbent upon the person receiving one of these boxes to return it when filled, but unwrapped, to the collection point designated by the Red Cross inspectors authorized to exclude any articles barred by the postal authorities, after which the box will be shipped.

On receiving one of these Christmas parcel labels it should be presented at the nearest chapter, branch or auxiliary headquarters of the Red Cross, where the holder will receive a carton. These labels are not expected to reach this country before Nov. 1, but by that time each Red Cross branch will have its allotment of boxes, based on the number of soldiers in service overseas from that community.

The articles prohibited are all inflammable material, including friction matches and any composition likely to ignite or explode (cigarette lighters come under this classification), liquids and fragile articles improperly packed. Under the postal regulation no note or message or written matter of any kind will be permitted to remain in the boxes.

Do not put anything in the packages which will not keep fresh until Christmas.

Pack dried fruits and other food products in small tin or wooden boxes. Give preference to hard candy over chocolates, unless the latter are inclosed in heavy wrappers. Soft chocolates may spoil the other contents.

Do not put articles packed in glass in the package.

Gifts should be wrapped in khaki-colored handkerchiefs, twenty-seven inches square.

After the package has passed the inspection of the Red Cross representatives, as to contents and weight, and been wrapped in stout paper, the Christmas label bearing the address for the man for whom it is intended, is placed on it. The person sending the package, in the presence of the Red Cross worker, is required to affix stamps sufficient to carry it to Hokoken, N. J. The postal charges are to be at the rate of fourth-class or parcel post zone rate. A label certifying that the inspection has been completed by the Red Cross is placed on the package, which is left in the custody of the Red Cross until delivered to the postal authorities.

law school of Boston university and last June finished the junior year of his course. This fall he is permitted to return to his studies as a member of the senior class of the law school, but he will also be a member of the Students' Army Training school, under military discipline and manner of living, at all times.

One evening at the close of business at his father's store, Boston Ladies Outfitters, Mr. Fidler received a surprise in the form of a number of the workers in the store as well as some of his friends not connected with the store, suddenly surrounding him and making him the recipient of a box of cigars and a gold service ring. His father who is recognized as one of the most patriotic men in the community had previously given his son a $500 Liberty bond of the Fighting Fourth issue and a soldier's wrist watch.

KENWOOD WOMAN HIT BY JITNEY

Mrs. Agnes Delaney of Perry street, Kenwood, was struck by a jitney on the Lawrence road about nine o'clock last night. The accident occurred near Kenwood, Mrs. Delaney having just alighted from a trolley on her way home, when the machine struck her, immediately overturning in the ditch with its full load of passengers, none of whom, strange to say, was injured. The car was driven by Michael Tannon for the Lowell Taxicab Co.

The injured woman was immediately taken to St. John's hospital, where it was found that she was suffering from abrasions of the arms and legs and a laceration on the head. She was reported today as resting comfortably.

LONDON JUBILANT OVER NEWS OF VICTORIES

LONDON, Oct. 14.—News of the allied victories on an increasing scale in France and the evidence supplied by Germany's reply to President Wilson that the German army although not yet beaten was sorely in need of a letup had a cheering effect on London's people yesterday. The belief that a victorious peace had been brought nearer, was evident in the demeanor of the crowds, although the first impressions that the German answer meant complete acceptance of the allied demands were modified by the reserved attitude evident in official quarters and the tone of the press comment.

EARTHQUAKE KILLS OVER 100 IN PORTO RICO

SAN JUAN, P. R., Sunday, Oct. 13.—With all the bodies not yet recovered, it is probable that 100 or more persons lost their lives at Mayaguez, a seaport on the western coast of Porto Rico, in last Friday's earthquake. That city is in terror as the result of a continuance of minor quakes. Many inhabitants are homeless and others are afraid to enter their homes to sleep at night.

LOWELL BOY ASSISTING SECRETARY McADOO

Private James A. Porter is the Lowell boy who had the honor of assisting Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo in a Liberty bond rally in a New York theatre last Friday evening. Private Porter is a member of Co. M of the 39th Infantry and was wounded in France Sept. 17, according to word received by his aunt, Mrs. Elizabeth McCarthy of 73 Stanley street. He has been sent back to this country during his convalescent period. At the present time he is assisting in the Liberty loan drive in New York city.

In a letter to his cousin, Frederick McCarthy, dated New York, Sept. 30, he tells of his home-coming in the following jubilant mood:

Dear Cousin Fred: Just a line to let you know that I am knocking them all dead in New York. I am having

ing the time of my life, sleeping in the best hotels and eating the best of food. They call us "America's heroes" here.

Well, Fred, I suppose you know that when a lad gets wounded he gets a gold bar on his right arm. I am proud of it and I want you to see the "kid" has been somewhere and I am going to tell you all about it soon because when I got through with this Liberty loan drive I am coming home for a few weeks. Isn't that great news?

I was at a show yesterday and they were selling Liberty bonds. A man said to me, "Are you wounded, son?" I said, "Yes, sir." Then he said, "I would give $2000 for a strapping like yours. I know you have been through hell for us people over here."

Well, Fred, I will close, hoping to get a long, long letter from you soon. JIMMIE.

GENUINE SAMPLE OF YANKEE GRIT

The Irishman who threw a hand grenade into a German dugout, the contents of which he told the 10 Boches there to divide impartially among themselves, has nothing on one of Groton's soldier boys, who recently captured 12 Hunns single-handed, and brought them safely into camp. One of the incidental results of this piece of Yankee grit comes in the announcement that the lad in question, Lawrence, Gay, of Headquarters company, 101 Field Artillery, has received not only the commendation of the entire company but a sergeant's as well.

Sergeant Gay is one of three brothers, all of whom are in the service. William is serving with the American forces in France, and John is at Camp Devens. The young man was known to Groton people as a quiet, unassuming chap, with a pleasant disposition and a ready smile. In a letter to his parents, the young man, in referring to the incident, merely says that the Hunns were easily taken.

LOWELL BOY MISSING IN WAR ZONE

Another Lowell boy is missing "somewhere in France." Private Rosario Leblou of Co. M of the 101st Regiment, son of Mrs. Denise Leblou of 29 Beaver street, is reported missing since Sept. 14, according to a telegram recently received by his mother. The soldier was a member of Co. M for four years and had served on a little more than year ago. Many interesting letters have been received from him.

Besides his mother he has three brothers and two sisters. He is 25 years old.

ST. ANTHONY'S CHURCH

The annual parish reunion, which was announced for Tuesday, October 15th at Associate hall, is postponed until further notice.

BAY STATE ASKING FOR TEN-CENT FARE

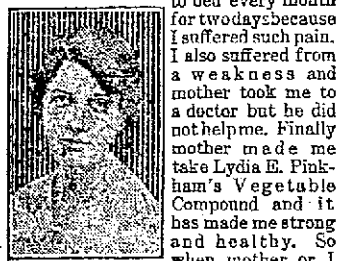

Patrons of the Bay State Street Railway company will soon be taxed 10 cents for a ride, if the present plans of the company and favor with the public service commission. Wallace B. Donham, receiver for the company has asked permission to inaugurate the new system Nov. 5th. This system provides for a minimum fare of 10 cents in the city zones, and abolishes the reduced rate tickets. The following is the program of the company, subject to the commission's sanction:

In Massachusetts Only
Ten-cent fares in city zones in place of six-cent fares.
City zones have been enlarged in area about one mile on each side.
No reduced rate ticket except school tickets.
Free transfers to all city ten-cent fares.
Workingmen's tickets are abolished.
Mileage zone fares are increased to five cents for each two-mile zone.
Minimum fare for any ride ten cents.
Effective November 10, 1918.
Hyde Park city zone not changed in fare.

GIRLS' PAINS AND WEAKNESS

Yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
Thousands of Girls Benefited

St. Louis, Mo.—"When I was only fifteen years old mother had to put me to bed every month for two days because I suffered such pain. I also suffered from a weakness and mother took me to a doctor but he did not help me. Finally mother made me take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has made me strong and healthy. So when mother or I hear any woman complaining we tell them about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it did for me."

—Mrs. JOHN FRAME, 1121 N. 18th St., St. Louis, Mo.

Girls who suffer as Mrs. Frame did should not hesitate to give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial, as the evidence that is constantly being published proves beyond question that this grand old remedy has relieved more suffering among women than any other medicine.

The letters constantly being published from women in every section of this country prove beyond question the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

area but fare is raised to seven cents. Receiver Donham's statement is as follows:

The Bay State Street Railway company must have a large increase in revenue immediately, and I am filing a new fare schedule today. It has been my intention not to file with the public service commission another tariff revising the fares, but to leave this problem to the trustees who are appointed by the government to manage the property under the legislature passed last winter. This, however, turned out to be impossible for several reasons.

In the first place financial conditions arising out of the war have made it so difficult to raise money, particularly for street railways, that it has not yet been possible to accomplish a reorganization of the property under the public control act. Such a reorganization necessitates raising several millions of dollars. The trustees could not, therefore, take over the management of the property and the receivership could not be brought to an end.

In the meantime the labor situation has developed in such a way as to bring about a crisis, requiring an immediate readjustment of revenue. The Bay State Street Railway employees are today getting less compensation than the employees of street railways such as the Springfield Street railway, Worcester Consolidated, Middlesex & Boston, and very much less than the employees of the Boston Elevated.

It is impossible that this situation should continue long, and I as receiver have no funds with which to pay higher wages. If wages are not raised the property cannot continue to be operated because it will be impossible to get men to operate the cars. If wages were raised without an increase in revenue, the property could not be operated because the United States court which appointed the receiver would not allow me to borrow money for the purpose of paying operating expenses.

Nothing else, therefore, is possible but an increase in fare, and in order to accomplish the result this increase in fare must be substantial.

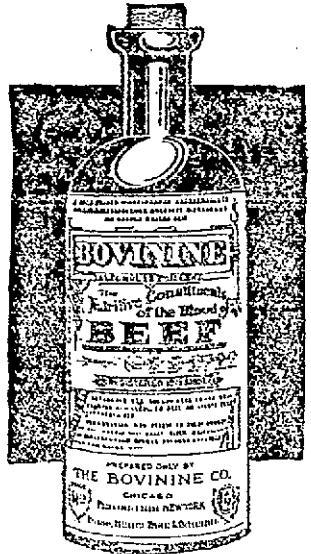

The schedule under which the company has been operating this summer has not proved satisfactory to the public or to the employees of the road and has generally been criticized because it is too complicated. The reduced rate city tickets have not built up traffic and the city fares were not therefore, on the average increase appreciably. The city revenue has therefore been unsatisfactory.

The revised schedule filed today is drawn with a view to eliminating all possible complications and getting the system on a simple, readily understood and workable system of fares. The city areas are made larger than the city areas in the tariff operated this summer and the country zones are made approximately two miles in length instead of one mile in length.

The whole system is then put upon a uniform basis of fares with a 10-cent minimum fare good in the city with universal transfers and in the outlying districts good for two zones or any part of two zones with additional fares of five cents a zone for lines extending outside the city or more than two zones in the country.

The Boy From Next Door

YOU used to see him swing gayly down the street, radiant with the vigor of his sturdy young manhood. One day he came home in khaki; then his father told you, with mingled pride and foreboding, that he had "gone across" with his regiment.

Yesterday his name was on the casualty list—"slightly wounded"—and your face grew grave as you thought of the sorrow and suspense of his father and mother.

From every city street, every village, every community, the boy next door has gone to war.

Think of these thousands of splendid young Americans, reared in comfort, peace, and security, now suddenly plunged into that roaring inferno of battle with the hardened hordes of a desperately determined foe.

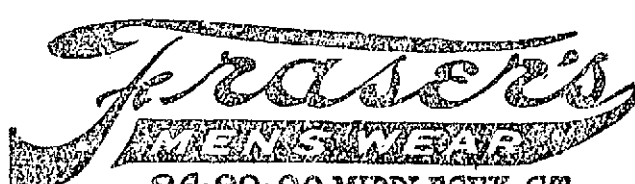

What are you doing to help them?

What are you doing to arm and protect them, and bring them home in safety? Have you bought Liberty Bonds? Have you bought all you possibly can?

Has it occurred to you that one more Bond, bought with a little additional effort, may save the life of the boy from the next door?

Buy Another Bond!

1000 LIVES LOST

Large Section of Minnesota
in Ruins With Bodies
Strewn About Countryside

Disastrous Fires Wipe Out
Dozen Towns—Thousands
Are Homeless

DULUTH, Minn., Oct. 14.—A large section of northeastern Minnesota—three days ago a busy and prosperous business and farming community—today was a smoldering ruin with hundreds of bodies of men, women and children, many of them burned beyond recognition, strewn about the countryside, as the result of the disastrous fires which swept this territory Saturday and Sunday.

Death List Close to 1000
Latest estimates place the death list at close to 1000. Hundreds of persons are more or less seriously burned, thousands are destitute and homeless and the property loss will reach many millions of dollars. At least a dozen hamlets and towns were destroyed. The worst blazes were at Moose Lake, Kettle River and Cloquet. In Moose Lake and immediate vicinity, it is estimated more than 300 perished in the flames. Between 500 and 1000 coffins have been ordered sent to this town alone.

Although countless small fires were burning throughout the district today and the more serious blazes died down considerably during the night, a revival of the 70-mile-an-hour gale of Saturday would bring further horrors.

Scenes Beggar Description
MOOSE LAKE, Minn., Oct. 14.—The scene around Moose Lake which is in the heart of the burned area beggars description. The country for 30 miles around is a smoldering ruin with perhaps six or seven buildings still standing. The first automobiles reaching here with aid passed scores of bodies. Stories are told of half-crazed settlers who wandered aimlessly about.

Bodies of Four Score Victims
At Moose Lake, temporary morgues have been established and here lie the bodies of four score victims.

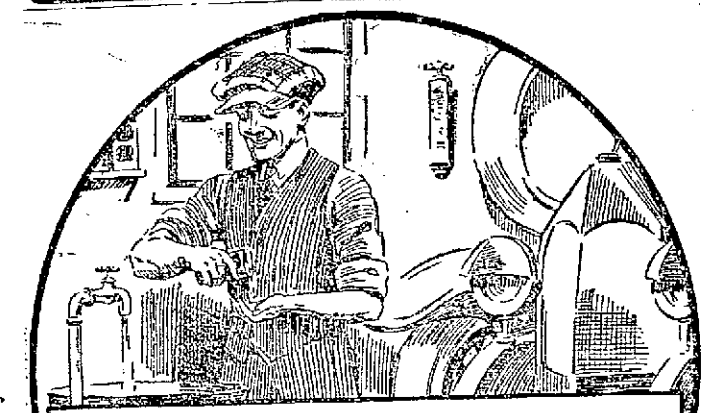

Four miles west of here, on a farm, the bodies of 17 men, women and children were found in a cellar. They had been baked to death. Two miles farther on, at another farm, 14 bodies were taken from a well where the fire-driven unfortunates had sought safety.

TEXT OF GERMAN REPLY TO WILSON'S NOTE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—The text of the note of the German government accepting President Wilson's peace terms is as follows:

"In reply to the questions of the President of the United States of America the German government hereby declares:

"The German government has accepted the terms laid down by President Wilson in his address of January the eighth and in his subsequent addresses on the foundation of a permanent peace of justice. Consequently its object in entering into discussions would be only to agree upon practical details of the application of these terms. The German government believes that the governments of the powers associated with the government of the United States also take the position taken by President Wilson in his address. The German government, in accordance with the Austro-Hungarian government, for the purpose of bringing about an armistice, declares itself ready to comply with the proposals of the president in regard to evacuation. The German government suggests that the president may occasion the meeting of a mixed commission for making the necessary arrangements concerning the evacuation. The present German government, which has undertaken the responsibility for this step toward peace, has been formed by conferences and in agreement with the great majority of the Reichstag. The chancellor, supported in all of his actions by the will of this majority, speaks in the name of the German government and of the German people.

MUST BE UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER FIRST

LONDON, Oct. 14.—No temporary armistice nor an armistice at all, unless accompanied by Germany's unconditional surrender, is the dominant note in most of the comment on the peace situation in this morning's newspapers.

"The allies will take nothing less than unconditional surrender in the field and there must be no armistice until defeat in the field is acknowledged by the enemy," says The Post. "Otherwise the war has been fought in vain."

The paper sees in Germany's endeavor to open peace negotiations merely an attempt to avoid disaster and save her military reputation and adds:

"It is not the first time that the Germans have erroneously assumed that President Wilson does not understand the people with whom he is dealing. President Wilson knows the enemy as well as do the allies. Germany's idea in this discussion is to steal the advantage. Her design is to first create dissension between the United States and the allies. If Dr. Solz, with a sham democracy, can get the allies and America to talking, he will have achieved the purpose for which he and Prince Maximilian were appointed."

Ridiculing the idea that the German government is speaking for the people, The Post continues:

"Assurance on this point from the German government itself is obviously without value to President Wilson. If he were to accept it, he would be going back upon all he has said about the German government, so we do not see how he can accept it."

The Chronicle believes that the president may wish some or all of Germany's answers to be made more specific, specially that regarding the authority of Prince Maximilian's government. Assuming that he will be satisfied as to this point, the paper contends that no peace discussion is possible without a final cessation of fighting. Under the caption: "Temporary armistice inadmissible," the paper says:

"We must insist upon such terms as will virtually disarm the central powers. We cannot contemplate Germany withdrawing her armies intact, reconstituting them on shorter lines and then rattling the sword again at the peace conference. It must be remembered that the conference will last a long time, at least six months and possibly a year. Fighting must be finished once and for all and the allies must be unmistakably secured against its renewal. This is the point of principle to be decided by the allies, and the conditions requisite therefore constitute a naval and military, not a political problem. It must first be referred to Marshal Foch and the British admiralty."

Reply Not Acceptance

"The German reply is not an acceptance of President Wilson's terms," says The Mail. "The statement that they have been accepted is not the only untruth in the German reply. The present German government was formed by the same powers and nations as those which have directed and approved every foul and brutal act which has disgraced the name of Germany from tearing up a scrap of paper to the sinking of the Lusitania. If President Wilson were to believe the Kaiser's lying statement that his government has accepted the terms laid down, the German people would be confirmed in their slavish belief in the power and wisdom of their emperor."

Admission of Defeat

The Daily News says that the German note implies that Germany accepts defeat as the verdict of the war, but expresses some doubt as to Dr. Solz's reply relative to the elimination of military rulers, which it describes as an assertion and nothing more. Nevertheless, it says, it is supported by admission of defeat.

Armistice Up to Foch

Skeptical of the declaration that the German government represents the people, The Telegraph points out the fact that the German emperor appoints the chancellor, who makes his own military. The paper is emphatic that the question of an armistice must be in the hands of Marshal Foch, but insists that one could not be possibly granted without adequate guarantees, for instance, the surrender of certain strategic points in Germany.

The Times regards Germany's answer as neither candid or straightforward, and says that Germany evades and attempts to confuse plain issues.

WAR LOST IF ARMISTICE GRANTED, SAYS LODGE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Acceptance in any degree of the German reply to President Wilson's note, including the granting of an armistice, means the loss of the war for the allies, Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, minority leader, and ranking republican of the foreign relations committee of the senate, declared last night in a statement.

The note, as received unofficially, is not a surrender on Germany's part, as Sec. McAdoo and others claim, Senator Lodge said, but is "highly conditional."

The senate republican leader demanded an unconditional surrender or the allies would be "led to humiliating defeat by a peace of bargain and compromise."

"Mr. McAdoo and some of the press speak of the German note, if authentic, as a complete surrender," said Senator Lodge.

Note Not a Surrender

"It is nothing of the kind. It is just the reverse. It is not a surrender and it is highly conditional. If we accept that note it means that Germany has failed to conquer the world at this moment and that we have lost the war."

"The president made three inquiries. He proposed no terms; he made no promises; he committed himself to nothing—no matter what the answer might be. The Germans represent his questions as terms offered, and then say that, the purpose of bringing about an armistice, they are ready to accept the president's general propositions and to discuss details.

"The armistice is the first step, and they propose that evacuation should be arranged by a mixed commission on which they would be represented.

"If we agree to an armistice now the war is lost. If we refuse an armistice the war will be won. If we agree to an armistice Germany will have opportunity to restore and refresh her armies and accumulate munitions. Her fleet is untouched.

Details All Important

"She will be in exactly the same position territorially as she was when the war began. Then she will discuss under the president's general propositions the details. The details include everything that is vital: Alsace-Lorraine; Italy; Ireland; the independence of the Czech-Slovaks; Jugoslavians and Poland; the expulsion of Turkey from Europe, and much else equally important to a real peace; and we are to sit around a table and discuss everything with Germany, who can refuse everything she does not like under the threat of renewing the war in a more advantageous position.

"It will be a peace of bargain and compromise and the president has said that there can be no peace obtained by any kind of bargain or compromise."

"Our only assurance for what may be agreed to after weeks of discussion would be the German word and the German signature, both worthless."

Sees Victory in Sight

"The president has said that 'we cannot accept the word of those who forced this war upon us.' The government of Germany has not changed. The chancellor has changed. Changing the chancellor no more changes the German government than the president changing his secretary of state would change our government."

"There is nothing in the propositions

about reparation; nothing about the destruction of life by submarines; war fare. We should be left to the mercy of the German diplomats to decide what reparation we should obtain, what contribution there should be for the murders of the submarines.

"If the German note is authentic and we accept it in any degree the war is lost and all our sacrifices have been made in vain. We are on the eve of victory. We must have an unconditional surrender. We must impose our own terms. If we accept the German note there will be no surrender and we shall be left to humiliating defeat by a peace of bargain and compromise."

GERMAN PEOPLE CHEER REPLY TO WILSON

LONDON, Sunday, Oct. 13.—When workers quitted the factories in the suburbs of Berlin on Saturday night, many thousands of men and women thronged in the center of the city and waited for hours for the German reply to President Wilson, according to a Copenhagen despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co. Extra editions with the text were issued at 10 o'clock and were received with enthusiasm, many women bursting into tears.

The Vorwarts of Berlin publishes an article warning the Pan-Germans, who are preparing counter actions to secure the continuance of the old system, that they are pursuing a dangerous course and should beware of exhausting the people's patience. It declares that every conspiracy will be stopped with a strong hand. A proclamation demanding a socialist republic has been published, but the papers printing it have been seized. Scandinavian papers believe that peace is near.

CORP. JOHN J. MANN SEVERELY WOUNDED

Corp. John J. Mann of Co. 1, 102d Infantry, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Mann of 225 Walker street, is reported severely wounded in France, according to a despatch which has been received by the war department.

Corp. Mann enlisted in April, 1917, when only 18 years old. He saw guard duty in New Hampshire and went overseas in the early fall of 1917. He has been in the thick of fighting ever since and has been wounded no less than four times.

Previous to his enlistment he was employed at the plant of the International Steel & Ordnance Co. He formerly attended St. Patrick's boys' school.

FIRE AND THEIR CAUSES

This is a time for conservation of money, of food, of material and of practically everything that is necessary to sustain life. In line with the policy of conservation it is most important to prevent destruction of property which of late results to a vast extent from fires not only in cities and towns but in wooded districts where the only cause that can properly be assigned is absolute carelessness.

The fire underwriters of the country are continually appealing to the public to guard against fires of all kinds. Many cities have made strict regulations calculated to remove the causes of fire, but in numerous cases these regulations are either forgotten or ignored.

The underwriters find that the causes of fire may be enumerated under five heads, namely, enemy fires, fires for fraud, pyromaniac fires, spite fires and fires accessory to other crimes. There is no doubt whatever that German spies or other alien enemies have started a great many of the most destructive fires that have occurred in this country since 1914. Many of these enemies have been caught and punished but there is evidence that there are still many of them at work. Inasmuch as in some cases they secure employment in the factories which they intend to burn, it is very difficult to detect their operations or to find even a clue to the identity of the perpetrators. These alien enemies direct their nefarious work particularly against munition factories, ship yards, freight trains loaded with supplies and transports destined for Europe. Many of these plots for a time carried on the business of manufacturing bombs and placing them upon outgoing vessels in order to start fires and cause explosions that would destroy the ships when a few days out from port. Most of these plots were apprehended and their activity was stopped. There is still, however, good ground to believe that alien enemies are inflicting serious loss upon the nation almost daily. In one case it will be a powder factory that is destroyed, in another a shell loading plant and so on. The loss in such fires is simply enormous. As an instance it may be mentioned that the estimated loss resulting in the fire at the munition factory at Morgan, N. J., will exceed $25,000,000.

These incendiaries do not care how many lives are lost. They undertake to destroy the factories and the loss of life becomes incidental. The department of justice is doing everything possible to prevent these outrages, but they are now being planned with such secrecy as to baffle all the detective skill that can be used against them.

But in spite of the serious character of this menace, it appears that many serious fires are unjustly attributed to this cause. Many that result from carelessness are often laid at the door of alien enemies. It is still true as in former years, that certain parties set fire to buildings in order to get insurance. This is particularly true of itinerant traders who go into cities and start up in business only to meet with failure as a result of a foolish venture, or else through a wilful intention to defraud the insurance companies. Anyhow, a fire occurs in the little store, the proprietor of which is conveniently absent. It may spread to other buildings and do very serious damage. Many such fires have destroyed whole blocks and caused the loss of numerous lives. This, it appears, is a serious menace to the average city, and one for which the fire department must be continually on the lookout. In some cities firemen have become so familiar with suspicious fires that they can almost predict where they are likely to occur, judging from the business and the antecedents of the men who run certain stores.

There are also many fires set by people who have a mania for destruction of this kind. One will start a fire in order to see the engines dashing along the street; another to draw a crowd and witness the excitement, and others from the sheer devilry of the thing. Pyromaniacs, however, are not very numerous and their action is so open and undisguised that they are soon caught. In every case they are found to be suffering from a mild form of insanity. The fires accessory to other crimes are also rather numerous. Burglars break into buildings and start a fire to attract attention while they get away. Murderers occasionally try to hide their crimes by starting a fire to burn up the bodies of the victims, but in such cases there is usually some clue that reveals the murderer and leads to the conviction of the culprit.

During the fall season forest fires are most common and with the present high price of lumber, such a fire is now very much more serious than in former years. Whether a person burns wood for fuel or lumber for building purposes, he will find that prices are several times as high as they were a few years ago. The price of lumber at present is almost prohibitive except where building is imperative.

There is danger of starting fires in attempting to burn up dry leaves or rubbish in the fall. There is an ordinance forbidding this without a permit from the fire department, and it is understood that the authorities intend to enforce it. Unless the people throughout the city and the suburban towns of Portland. She now asks the divorce court to free her from the legal bonds which unite her to James. She recites in her petition that although James previously earned his living as a capable marine cook, after marriage, he scouted up 17 heavy eating boards and compelled her to support him by cooking for them. Just the ending that might be expected from that kind of a marriage.

There is a distinct note of sadness in the little news despatch from Belfast, Me., last week, telling of the suicide of Mrs. Harrie D. Stephenson, 78 years old. She lived alone. In a note she left she said she had been driven to hang herself through fear of the long, cold winter she knew was on its way. She made her little home spotlessly clean and laid out the clothes in which she wished to be buried. A pity surely that nobody knew the dire necessity that pressed upon the aged lady. How many would have been ready to aid her?

The editor of "As the World Wags" in the Boston Herald, the noted Philip Hale, tells a reader that he cannot sing the "Star Spangled Banner" or "Over There," though he recognizes both as being good tunes. He adds that he cannot sing any tune, national, sacred or profane. We are glad he sings no profane tunes. That increases his chance, no doubt, of attaining that perfect running, gold typewriter in heaven that all good newspapermen like himself are credited with being given by St. Peter when they reach the gate.

There has been surprisingly little complaint or criticism that the national authorities sought to conserve gasoline by making it bad form to motor on Sunday. "Never was something good but what it might be made better," is perhaps the theory which is behind the announcement from W. Champlin Robinson that gasless Sundays are to be abandoned and a new plan devised. The old plan worked fine and enthusiasm ought not to be allowed to have it discarded while the need of conservation remains.

By every indication and based on all the information the ordinary American citizen can obtain, the Hun comes seeking peace not with the olive branch or a dove in his hand, but a firebrand, and while he blabbers about the peace he wants, there is no guarantee but that he is adding to Belgium's fires by putting the firebrand behind him and starting more fires. Was there ever a more audacious thing than German gall?

Most people are well aware of the fact that in calling the Germans, Dutchmen, the worst injustice and indignity possible is done to that sturdy little nation, Holland, whose people may be called Hollanders, Dutch or Hollandaise. It is for this reason that the newly formed 13th Division at Camp Devens, in hunting around for a suitable nickname for itself had to reject the sobriquet of "Dutch Cleaners."

Now has come an announcement that Germany plans to start a "league of nations." Nations thoroughly acquainted with Germany's record in connection with looting Belgian churches and enslaving the Belgian people upon receiving a bid to come into a Teuton "league of nations," will undoubtedly regard it as an invitation to join a "Forty Thieves" society.

Unexpected Hint

The visitor had dropped in "just for a minute," but she remained about three hours after the minute was up. Little Freddie had formed several plans, the execution of which must be postponed till the departure of his mother's guest, so he sat quietly thinking things. "Dear little man!" gushed the visit-

tor. "And what is he thinking about so deeply?" "I was wondering if it wasn't time for you to be going," said Freddie. "Hush!" said his mother. Then, turning to her guest: "You mustn't be offended, Mrs. Smith. Children will go blurring out the truth without thinking, but they don't mean anything by it."

Then Mrs. Smith recollected that she had only three minutes in which to catch the last car home.—Rehoboth Sunday Herald.

Their Names Have Faded

Nothing is better calculated to encourage humility in young men about to enter upon a political career than a study of the roster of congress for years only lightly veiled in "the pathos of distance."

Among United States senators from the middle west in 1893-94 were Lyman Trumbull, Richard J. Oglesby and Richard Yates of Illinois, Henry S. Lane, Oliver P. Morton and Thomas A. Hendricks of Indiana, James Harlan and Samuel J. Kirkwood of Iowa, Samuel C. Pomeroy and James H. Lane of Kansas, Zachariah Chandler and Jacob M. Howard of Michigan, Alexander Ramsey and Daniel S. Norton of Minnesota and Benjamin F. Wade and John Sherman of Ohio.

In the lower house sat Elihu B. Washburne, Owen Lovejoy and William R. Morrison of Illinois; Schuyler Colfax, George W. Julian, Daniel W. Voorhees, William S. Holman and Godlove S. Orth of Indiana; William B. Allison, Josiah B. Grinnell, John A. Kasson and James F. Wilson of Iowa; James A. Garfield, Rufethorpe B. Hayes and Robert C. Schenck of Ohio. In the same group of states in the '80s we find David Davis, John A. Logan, Joseph E. McDonald, Benjamin Harrison, Thomas W. Ferry, Henry P. Baldwin, William Windom, Samuel J. R. McMillan, Algernon S. Paddock, Alvin Saunders, M. H. Carpenter, John J. Ingalls and Preston B. Plumb, all senators in congress. In this same period the Ohio delegation in the lower house included Benjamin Butterworth, A. J. Warner, Thomas Ewing, Charles Foster, Frank H. Hurd, J. Warren Keifer and William McKinley.

How many students in the high schools and colleges would recognize any considerable number of these names or have any idea of the nature of the public service these men performed? To be sure, three members of congress from Ohio in the years indicated, and one senator from Indiana, reached the White House; but at least two-thirds of the others enjoyed a wide reputation, either as politicians or statesmen, or as both.—Merced Nicholson, in Scribner's.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

One day last week it looked as if an imprudent animal exhibition two or three small boys staged in front of a closed up saloon in Merrimack street might attract large enough crowd so that pedestrians would have to take to the highway. Two boys of the group saw a sleek white cat sunning herself in the front window of the saloon. Somehow I never remember to have seen a lean or ill fed looking cat in a bar room. Oddly enough each of the boys produced a pet white rat from his pocket and showed it to the kitty. The kitty at first examined the two long tailed white rats as they cavorted on the brass railing outside the window, with the interest he expected of a good sporting cat whose home was in a bar room. Finally, however, she seemed to realize the stout plate glass was between herself and the rat meat and she again settled down and watched the boys and the rats in a bored sort of a way.

Undertakers with whom I have talked tell me there are still families to be found who insist on having the casket plate of a dead relative removed from the coffin before burial takes place and who keep it in the home. The undertakers advise against this being done as they state that the sole purpose of the casket plate is to establish, as near as it is possible to do it in an imperishable manner, the permanent identity of the remains. In rare cases it is necessary to examine bodies and the presence of a name plate on the casket establishes beyond all legal doubt, the identity of the person buried. The undertakers point out that it is rather a gruesome and sad memento to have in one's home, and I agree with them.

Of course it would be one of the things to accompany this dreadful scourge of influenza that coincident with its ravages there should be fewer hothouse flowers to be obtained than is usually the case. Of course there has been an unprecedented demand for flowers owing to the number of sick persons for whom relatives like to buy flowers, as well as the many funerals. But there is a situation now where often times you can buy only bunches of mountain laurel or florists' evergreens, tied tastefully but sadly with silver grey ribbon. It is said that the purchase of flowers as tributes to the dead is a waste of money and so it is; but to the bereaved family it brings a measure of consolation which is the main consideration.

Zachary Taylor, Louisville, Ky., his death being due to influenza. Nothing has shocked and grieved me more in a long time than the death of this young man, by beloved friend. Hardly more than six weeks ago, in company with his brother Joseph, assistant city editor of the Boston Post, Frank, as we have always called him, came to Lowell to call on me. The three of us repaired to Lakeview and enjoyed a pleasant walk over to Willow Dale and found a pretty little spot among pines, on a point jutting into the water.

Here we fell to "fanning" as newspapermen will invariably do and we talked about those who had gone into service and those who hadn't, together with the reasons why they hadn't. Talk about the war started and each of us took his guess at what he believed might happen in the future. Later as it turned out, Frank did not wait for the draft to summarily gather him in. He speeded up events in his own case so that in a short time he started for the great military camp at Louisville. The mother of the Hurley boys is a widow and has been these many years, bringing up her boys to be men of the most sterling character; honored and loved by the hundreds of persons who know them in South Boston, their home. The clean life he lived was Frank Hurley's highest tribute. Neither his name nor his memory needs even the heartfelt and sincere eulogiums I would add. Frank Hurley honored his brave and patriotic little white-haired mother, his profession and the community in which he lived.

I understand that when a woman stops at the shoe stores down town she has every intention of paying at least $7 for a new pair of shoes. This price in almost every instance is supported to insure a purchase which will not prove a disappointment in the course of a few weeks' time. This is, they will wear for a reasonable length of time and retain a good appearance. The woman of today does not as a rule, begrudge paying out this amount in footwear. But, an aggravating thought sometimes comes to the buyer when she compares her purchase with that of some woman friend who succeeded in finding a "bargain" in a shoe of a different style. Then, if she is like most women, she will feel rather down-hearted and vexed to think that she has not been as shrewd in buying, and has demonstrated that she has failed to receive full value for her money. However, this tendency to acquire the art of becoming a bargain hunter is not so prevalent among the young people of today. They expect a fair exchange in merchandise for their money, and thus it would seem that when the government regulates the styles and prices of shoes that it will meet with very general approval among the younger buyers.

BULGARS OPENED DOOR

Surrender Means Way Now Clear for Great Allied Attack on Austria

BY A. E. GELDHOF.
(War Editor of the Newspaper Enterprise Association.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 14.—The armistice with Bulgaria on the surface means merely the cessation of hostilities with the smallest and most insignificant of our adversaries.

But in reality it means vastly more than that. Taken in connection with the Turkish debacle in Palestine and the daily disasters to German arms on the western front, it means the crisis and climax of the war.

Its deep significance in relation to future events cannot be overestimated. It is still true that the war will end on the western front by the destruction of the kaiser's armies, but the destruction of his house of cards in the Balkans brings that felicitous event immeasurably nearer.

While conditions in connection with the armistice are in a state of uncertainty, it is possible to point out some of the inevitable results that will accrue from the elimination of Bulgaria as a factor in the war.

The big outstanding fact is that it opens the back door to Austria to the allied armies.

Many diplomats and militarists among the allied leaders have long maintained that the war will be won not on the western front nor on the Rhine, but through conquest of Austria-Germany.

See Germany's End in Austria.

They declare that occupation of a part of Austria-Hungary will bring about the utter collapse of that shaky empire; that a campaign through Slavonic southern Austria to Vienna would be easy of accomplishment, once it was started, because the sympathies of a large part of the Austrian population are with the allies.

They add that with Austria-Hungary out of the war Germany cannot go on. The epochal events now transpiring in the Balkans may prove these theories correct.

It will take some time for the Bulgarians to complete the evacuation of Serbia and Macedonia and the demobilization of their armies, but meanwhile the Anglo-French-Greek-Serbian advance into Serbia will continue, in connection with an Italian offensive which will push the Austrians from Albania.

With Serbia recovered, a battlefront will once more be established on the Austrian border. Rumania will welcome with open arms the allied armies marching through Bulgaria, permitting them to extend the battlefront along the Adriatic along the Carpathian mountain slopes to the Ukraine.

Austria undoubtedly will try to make a stand in Serbia, and the German reinforcements recently sent to Bulgaria, together with Von Mackensen's army of 120,000 occupying Rumania, will oppose the allied advance. The battle line as first constituted, therefore, probably will extend from a point north of Durazzo, through Nish and Bucharest, to the Black Sea just inside the Russian border.

The Germans are in control of the Ukraine, but a successful drive would throw them back and effect a juncture between the Czech-Slovak operating near the Black Sea and the allies' Balkan army, thus completing a continuous line from the Adriatic to the Pacific—the longest and most tremendous war front the world will ever see.

There also exists the possibility of a new Italian offensive toward Trieste, which ultimately would connect the present Italian front with the western extreme of the Balkan front somewhere along the Dalmatian coast. With this iron ring encircling her, what chance would Austria have to break out?

Breaks Up Herilto to Bagdad Scheme

These military developments are not only possible, but probable, for a precedent exists both for the joining of the Russian and Rumanian fronts and for an Italian drive toward Trieste. The Russian and Rumanian armies reached a juncture in Bessarabia in 1915, and the first Italian offensive took King Victor's army deep into the Trentino almost to Trieste.

From the diplomatic viewpoint, the Bulgarian surrender is perhaps the early capitulation of Turkey and the driving of the unspeakable Turk from Europe—a feat for which the Christian nations have hoped for years.

It means further the complete breaking up of the kaiser's grandiose scheme for a Berlin-Bagdad trade route, with a through railroad from Hamburg to the gates of India.

Bulgaria was the key to this pan-German dream for a railroad from Berlin to Bagdad must traverse Bulgaria from Nish to Constantinople. This is the secret of the insistence of General Franchet d'Esperey in the armistice negotiations that the Bulgarian railways must be placed in allied control. The allies will take care to make sure that the Germans are never again permitted to gain command of this vital trade artery.

Bulgar Surrender Cuts off Turkey

Not the least important effect of the Bulgarian armistice is that it cuts Turkey off completely from communication with her Germanic dictators.

The armistice permits allied troops to pass through Bulgaria, which means that unless the Sultan surrenders immediately, an allied army will be thrown into Turkey for a campaign against Adrianople and Constantinople.

The Turkish demand for peace has already been accentuated by the destruction of the Sultan's army in Palestine, and with its European boundaries also invested, it would not be long before the people forced the Young Turk party which controls the Turkish empire to sue for peace.

Most anything may happen in Turkey, but whatever it is it will benefit the allied cause. The most that can be hoped for is that Turkey will be forced out of Europe into the Anatolian peninsula, and that Armenia, Syria and Persia will be freed of their Turkish oppressors.

Officials believe Turkey will not wait for an allied army to hammer at her gates, but will follow Bulgaria's example and sue for an armistice on terms of unconditional surrender on the near future.

WILL PREPARE LAMB AND BEEF BROTH FOR GRIPPE VICTIMS

A quantity of lamb and beef broth will be prepared and ready for sale tomorrow at the Saco-Loewell community kitchen. This soup is for people suffering from the gripple, especially prepared under the direction of the dietician of the Lowell Guild and the manager of the kitchen, and will be sold at actual cost. Those desirous of securing same are requested to bring containers, if convenient, and if possible to notify the Saco-Loewell community kitchen, 503 Dutton street, telephone 5904, or the Lowell Guild, 17 Dutton street, telephone 3124.

With the assistance of the Saco-Loewell community kitchen the Lowell Guild has already dispensed a great quantity of soup in its relief work during the present epidemic, but it is quite apparent that there are many people among the well-to-do who would welcome the opportunity to buy the soups because of inability to prepare them in their own homes. This is in no sense a charity, but an effort to reach all who can be benefited during the epidemic through the combined efforts of the Lowell Guild and the community kitchen.

WORK OF MURDEROUS HUN IN SO. AFRICA

(By Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

LONDON, Eng.—Germany wants her colonies back when the war is over.

Von Herling has stated this as one of the terms of peace.

Her treatment of her South Africa colonies before the war is the best argument for the answer the allies will give.

Germany accompanied "culture" with bayonets, with rape, with slavery and looting, and theft.

Germany sought to Germanize—or exterminate the African races by burning women and children to death, by seizing their food and leaving them to starve.

She drove the tribes into the jungles to die. She shot down or hanged the natives who tried to live peacefully with her.

Natives Enslaved

Read the evidence collected by E. H. Gorgas, administrator of southwest Africa, for the British government. The stories of cruelty and murder are told under oath. They are substantiated by witnesses. They are published under the title, "Report on the Natives of Southwest Africa and Their Treatment by Germany."

After making agreements with the natives, Germany treated these pledges as "scraps of paper," seized the best land, robbed them of their cattle and reduced them to a state of slavery, beating and murdering them at will and mistreating their women habitually.

Trotha, who played a notorious part in the Chinese Boxer rebellion and had completed a wholesale massacre of Arab men, women and children, was chosen for the extermination of the Hereros, when they rebelled against German oppression.

Manuel Tamaru, later court interpreter at Omaruru, in his statement under oath of atrocities witnessed when Von Trotha was carrying on his campaign of extermination of the Hereros, related:

"No prisoners were to be taken, but all, regardless of sex or age were to be killed. Some were peaceful people who had not gone into the rebellion; others, such as old men and old women, had never left their homes, but these were all shot."

Old Women Murdered

We came upon two very old Herero women. They had dropped back from the main body of Hereros, owing to exhaustion. Von Trotha and his staff were present. A German soldier dismounted, walked up to the old women and shot both as they lay there.

"A Herero woman came walking up out of the brush. Von Trotha asked her several questions but she did not seem inclined to give information. Von Trotha ordered that she be taken aside and bayoneted. I took the woman away and a soldier came up with his bayonet in his hand. He offered it to me and said I had better stab the woman. I said I would never dream of doing such a thing, and asked why the poor woman could not be allowed to live. The soldier laughed and said, 'If you won't do it, I will show you what a German can do.'

"He took the woman aside a few paces and drove the bayonet through her body. He then withdrew the bayonet and brought it all dripping with blood and poked it under my nose, in a jeering way, saying, 'You see, I have done it.'

"Her body was not buried, but, like all others they killed, and it lay on the ground, eaten by wild animals."

Child Killed in Sport

Jan Cloete, another native, testified this: "A German soldier found a little Herero baby boy about nine months old lying in the brush. The child was crying. He brought it into the camp where I was. The soldiers formed a ring and started throwing the child one to another and catching it as if it were a ball. The child was terrified and hurt and crying very much. After a time they got tired of this and one of the soldiers fixed his bayonet on his rifle and said he would catch the baby. The child was tossed into the air toward him and as it fell he caught it and transfixed the body with the bayonet. The child died in a few minutes and the incident was greeted with roars of laughter by the Germans who seemed to think it was a great joke."

Johannes Kruger, who had been named a chief of the bushmen during the rebellion, said:

"We refused to kill Herero women and children, but the Germans spared none. They killed thousands and thousands. Often, and especially at Waterberg, the young Herero women and girls were violated by the German soldiers before being killed. Two of my Hottentots were invited by the German soldiers to join them in violating Herero girls. The two Hottentots refused to do so."

"The Germans took no prisoners. Mothers holding babies at their breasts, little boys and girls; old people too old to fight and old grandmothers, none received mercy; none. They killed thousands and they were killed, all of them, and left to lie and rot on the veld."

Hendrik Campbell testified: "At Katjura we discovered eight or nine sick Herero women who had been left behind. Water and food had been left for them. The German soldiers burnt them alive in the hut in which they were lying."

I want to the German commander and complained. He said to me, 'That does not matter, they might have infected us with disease.'

Women Burned Alive

Hendrik Fraser states under oath: "I saw about 25 prisoners placed in a small enclosure of thorn bushes. They were confined in a very small space and the soldiers cut dry branches and piled dry logs all round them—men, women and children and little girls were there—when dry branches had been thickly piled up all round them the soldiers threw branches also on the top of them. The prisoners were all alive and unwounded, but half starved. Having piled up the branches, lamp oil was sprinkled on the heap and it was set on fire. The prisoners were burnt to a cinder. I saw this personally."

"The Germans said, 'We should burn all these dogs and baboons in this fashion.'

"All the waterholes on the desert border were poisoned by the Germans before they returned."

"Evidence of violation of women and girls is overwhelming, but so full of filth and atrocious details as to render publication undesirable," says the Gorgas report.

"When viewed from the point of view of civilization and common humanity, what a comparison there is between this German barbarism and the attitude of the Herero chiefs, who before a shot was fired ordered their people to spare the lives of all German women and children and non-combatants."

"Out of between 30,000 and 39,000 souls only about 15,000 starving and fugitive Hereros were alive at the end of 1905, when Von Trotha relinquished his task."

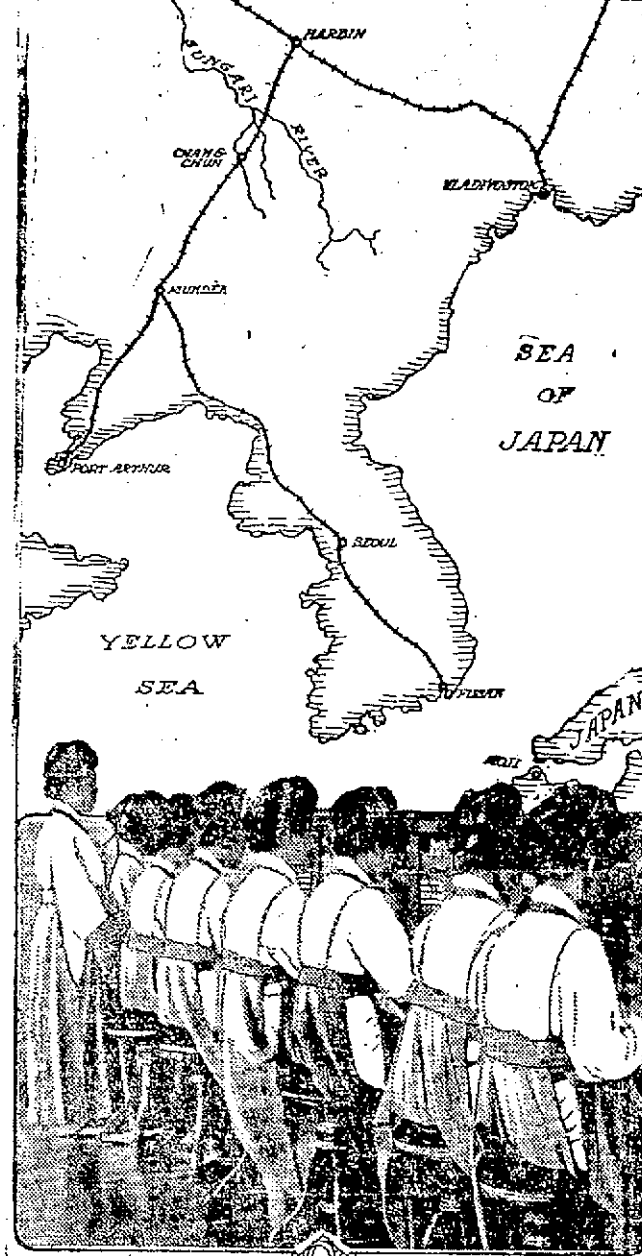

Hanging was a common and comparatively merciful treatment of offenders against German Kultur. Daniel Esma Dixon, who was a transport driver for the Germans during the Herero trouble testified: "A German officer had the right to order a native to be hanged. No trial or court was necessary. Many were hanged merely on suspicion. One day alone I saw seven Hereros hanging in a row, and on other days two and three. The Germans did not worry about rope. They used ordinary fencing wire and the unfortunate native was hoisted up by the neck and allowed to die of slow strangulation. This was all done in public and the bodies were allowed to hang for a day or two as an example to the other natives."

"PLEASED TO METZ YOU!"

The map shows Japanese control of rail lines through Korea and Manchuria. The Chinese Eastern railway was acquired by treaty after the Russo-Japanese war. Recently the stretch from Chang-Chun to the crossing of the Sun-gari river was added. Attempts to control the line from there to Harbin, when Japanese and Chinese troops went into Siberia, were not realized. Below are Japanese women switched-board operators in the Seoul exchange nerve center of Japan's colonial organization.

OLD KOREA IS NO MORE

Seoul Is Key to Japan's Westward March of Empire Into Asia

(Copyright, 1918, N.E.A.)

SEOUL, Korea, Sept. 25.—Old Korea, one of the world's most venerable independent dynasties, is no more; and gone, too, with the Hermit Kingdom is Seoul, its capital.

In their place are the mikado's province of Chosen, and Chosen's seat of government Keijo, Japan's new base, finger-post on the path of Nippon's westward march of empire—westward into Asia.

The date line on this story is incorrect from the conquering Japanese point of view—a relic of vanished days, evoking the wrath from the grave of a nation that died.

Old Seoul, with less than 300,000 inhabitants, metropolis of the most independent nation and the most decadent monarchy in the modern world, might be expected to appear a sorry looking city, the backward of capitals. But to the traveler who has passed through Tokyo with her two millions, and Osaka and Kyoto, and even the westernized Japanese ports, like Yokohama and Kobe, Seoul appears in the Orient the pearl of the Orient, the Paris of Asia.

And that, too, is because Seoul is Keijo, Japan's new base.

No city in all the east except those built up by European influence (and that, bars Peking and Shanghai and Hong Kong, with their attractive foreign settlements) rivals Keijo in the first impressions of up-to-dateness which it creates on the casual visitor.

Its streets are broad and smooth and clean. Its handsome postoffice cost a quarter of a million in Japanese money. The central bank of Chosen cost a like amount. Substantial buildings of brick, stone-faced, line the principal streets. And its proud boast is that the Chosen hotel is the finest in the east.

Japan did this, in little more than a decade. The impoverished Korean peninsula, with its 12,000,000 worse than impoverished inhabitants, needed no such administrative nerve center. Nor would any more splendid Korea, which is today in sight of even the rosiest imagination, require for its governmental bookkeeping the palatial capital building, five stories high, covering acres, containing almost 200 rooms, which is now under way at a cost of three millions in Japanese yen.

Not, that is to say, under the economical administration of Japan, than whom no first class power can be more economical—for Japan is accustomed to doing things on a small scale, and on a small margin.

Colonial Expansion

No! It is a strikingly magnificent vision of colonial expansion which these structures are built to house. They are built with an eye that sees far into the future. And the conviction—be it just or unjust—that that eye sees farther than the present boundaries of the province of Chosen, is irresistibly forced upon any observer who seeks to look below the surface.

So—the transformation of Seoul into Keijo, in fact as well as in name, has produced a symbol which in itself, without any tablets or documents other than brick belds or bricks and stone cemented to stone, unfolds to the reader of Oriental politics the oracular chart of Japan's ambitions in Asia.

Whether those ambitions are realized will have more effect upon the balance of this spinning old earth than any other single factor outside the peace terms of the present world war. A glance at the map shows which way this far-seeing eye is turned, and what it sees.

The treaty of Portsmouth in 1905, ending the Russo-Japanese war, gave Japan that part of the Chinese Eastern railway, completed by Russia only a few years before, south of Chang-Chun. With the railway went the concessions China had given Russia, when this great trade artery was driven down through the heart of Manchuria—concessions including the right to protect the railway with soldiery and privileges of administration and influence in a zone on each side of the railway.

The Chinese Eastern railway made Russia to all intents and purposes master of Manchuria. Japan's fear that the extension of this Russian absorption, into Korea would make the Korean peninsula "a dagger pointed at Japan's heart," is given as the cause of the Russo-Japanese war.

The end of the war, giving Japan the southern part of the road, made her master of South Manchuria. There has been great Japanese organization and development there. Over $10,000,000 worth of soy beans and bean paste are now exported from a territory which before merely supported itself.

South Manchuria

In all except the formality of political control, South Manchuria is Japanese soil today. Therefore, the eyes of Japan's empire builders are turned toward North Manchuria.

The Chinese Eastern, from Chang-Chun to Harbin, remained Russian. Quite recently Japan has clinched an extension of her influence as far as the Sun-gari river, half way from Chang-Chun to Harbin.

How long will it be until all of the line to Harbin, and therefore practically all of Manchuria, is recognized as Japan's sphere?

And from Manchuria the way leads into Mongolia and the northern provinces of China.

Japan has the energy and the organization to take the place of the world. Upon the question of whether she will want more than economic domination may hang the peace of the world, and perhaps the peace of the world.

With Russia in tatters, why should Harbin, in the heart of the supposedly Chinese province of Manchuria, be a Russian city?

It is a question which comes naturally to the Japanese mind.

Politically, economically, Seoul was nothing, or next to nothing. But more than its name is changed—now. Today Keijo is more than the capital of a Japanese province. It is the new base for Japan's campaign in Asia.

Will it be the Tokio of a Japanese continental colonial expansion as much larger than Nippon's isles as England's Atlantic dominion is larger than the "littl' l'le British isles?"

To come away from Keijo having seen and understood everything else but having missed that, would be to come away ignorant.

But that one fact about the Keijo that used to be Seoul in all men need know about the successor of the city that died—for it is the key that unlocks the door into the baffling, imagination-thrilling chamber of far eastern politics.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feed your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

TO REMOVE DANDRUFF
Get a small bottle of Danderine at any drug store for a few cents, pour a little into your hand and rub well into the scalp with the finger tips. By morning most, if not all, of this awful scurf will have disappeared. Two or three applications will destroy every bit of dandruff; stop scalp itching and falling hair.

Now— All Together!

NOTHING could stand against the mad dash of the French and American cavalry on the Marne—the German lines gave way, broke, fled; the day was won.

That fighting spirit of the men of Foch and Pershing, that united purpose—for Victory—must be the spirit, the purpose, of each of us behind the lines.

Paris, Aug. 5.—The Americans covered themselves with glory in the hand-to-hand fighting in the streets of Fismes yesterday when they captured that German base. The fighting is said to have been the bitterest of the whole war, the Prussian Guards asking no quarter and being bayoneted or clubbed to death as they stood by their machine guns.

We must lend as well as they fight. And we must pull together with all the strength we have—now!

We must so order our lives that we can save—to the limit—and lend—to the limit—for Victory. We must put America's whole strength behind our fighting men

Let us lend the way they fight Now—All Together! Let us buy bonds to our utmost

ONE POTATO HIS FOOD

Pr. Barnett, U.S.A., Lived
7 Days in Shell Hole and
Was Found Nearly Starved

By EDWARD M. THIERRY
(Paris Correspondent of the Newspaper Enterprise Association.)
PARIS, France, Sept. —Under a baptism of German lead, of hunger and thirst, Private Barnett, of the
—th United States Infantry, came out of a shell hole to tell of seven red days.
A raw potato was his only food.
Every drop of water had been squeezed from his canteen. Three comrades in his squad of automatic riflemen, who took refuge in the shell hole when a German artillery
and machine gun barrage cut them off, fell trying to make the American lines.

It was near Fismes. The trapped squad, observed by the Hun and instantly made the target of machine gun fire, crouched down and decided to wait for darkness to join their comrades.

Survivors Draw Straws
But the moon came up over the hill and lighted the narrow strip of
of debatable ground. At midnight,
however, a corporal tried to get back.
He fell a few feet from the shell hole.

Before daylight the next morning
another tried. He fell.
The next afternoon at 4 o'clock
two men were left in the shell hole.
They drew straws. The one drawing
the short straw was to go for help.
Private Barnett drew the long straw.
Two tortuous days Barnett waited.
His comrades did not return.
The fifth day he devoured the remainder of a raw potato he had harvested from a potato patch a few days before. But his canteen was dry; it had been drained the second day.

Despairs of Rescue
Things turned black the sixth day.
Private Barnett sank down and could not rise. He despaired of rescue.
The fortunes of Private Barnett the seventh day. An observer with the replacement unit saw something lying in a shell hole between the American and German lines. His glasses showed it to be an American soldier.
The night of the seventh day, a sergeant and three men crept out to investigate. They found Barnett—a boy of wasted frame, unconscious, pale as chalk and limp. The sergeant thought he had been gassed.
But it wasn't gas nor was it shrapnel injury. It was worse. Private Barnett told what scraps of his story he could remember. And he will be out of the hospital shortly to rejoin his unit—for revenge on the Hun.

A REAL IRON TONIC

Puts Iron Into the Blood Where It Is a Prime Necessity.

You must have an abundance of iron in your blood if you would have the vigor necessary to overcome obstacles, push ahead and bring things to pass.
Iron is a valuable medicine; it gives strength, stamina, endurance.
You can have more iron, better color, steadier nerves, by taking Pepton, a real iron tonic, which will make a gratifying change in your condition in a very short time.
Pepton combines iron with nuxcelery, pepsin and other valuable ingredients, and is in chocolate-coated pills. Pleasant to take and easily assimilated. Of druggists or direct

FIREBUG AT TEWKSBURY

Authorities Believe Loss of Town Hall and Church
Due to Entering of Kitchen

The early Sunday morning fire at Tewksbury Centre which completely destroyed the splendid old Colonial

Congregational church and the one-story town hall building near it, furnishing by all odds the worst and most spectacular fire the town has had in half a century, has a mystery connected with it, inasmuch as all explanations fail to give satisfaction in regard to how the fire started except that it must have been of incendiary origin.

Nearly every person in the town believes the fire was set and the investigation now in progress has started with that theory in view. Most people believe the fire was started, either accidentally or otherwise, by strangers who crawled inside the church and started a fire in the gas stove. It is not believed that any local person set the fire as there is no known object for this being done.

It is said no one had been in the church for the past two weeks. The firemen believe the fire started in the church kitchen where there is a gas range. There has been no fire in the church for any purpose for two weeks.
The only supposition left is that some unknown person or persons secured entrance to the church kitchen, knowing there would be no one in or about the church on account of its having been closed by the influenza epidemic,
and started a fire in the gas stove, from which fire the blaze which finally burned the structure, may have started.

Flames coming from within the church were first seen by Mrs. Alden Haines whose home windows command
a view of the church. This was at 2.30
a. m. Sunday. Mrs. Haines immediately notified Mrs. Clarence Foster who has a telephone and who succeeded in calling the town firemen.

The chief of the Tewksbury fire department, Stanley McCauley, dealing with how serious a fire his small department was confronted, immediately called on the Lowell and Billerica departments for help which was quickly forthcoming. If it had not been for the prompt arrival of this outside help
there is no doubt but what the entire village of Tewksbury Centre would have been wiped out. The water supply to fight the battle with the flames was pumped from a brook some hundreds of feet up the road.

Not the least important phase of this
fire was the fact that with the town hall on fire the highly important records and data connected with the work which has been carried on by exemption board No. 19 with its headquarters at Tewksbury Centre, were seriously endangered. The draft board records were removed from the office of the board in the town hall by Clarence Foster, Dr. H. M. Larrabee and
Walter Robinson, and taken across the street to a place of safety in the Enoch Foster house, which is to be the temporary office of this board.

The pretty square around which the houses at Tewksbury Centre cluster,
presents a very different appearance
now. Not a stick of the old white Congregational church remains. It is estimated it would cost more than $50-
000 to replace it. There was only $11-
000 insurance carried on the church and its organ. The horse sheds in the rear were also burned and there was an insurance of $1000 on them.
The town hall was insured for less than $4000. The vault in it containing important and valuable records was found after the fire, to have been preserved intact and safe.

It is understood a thorough investigation will be made by the town authorities and that possibly the state police will be called in to assist. There is a store a short distance from where the fire occurred called Fairgrave's store and the storekeeper becoming alarmed, moved out practically his entire stock, afterward moving his merchandise back when he was told there was no further danger.

GERMAN OFFICER PLANS TO MAKE SHOES OF TREE

AMSTERDAM, Sept. — To help out in the present great scarcity of leather and consequent dearth of footgear, a German army authority recommends the introduction of linden bark moccasins such as are worn by the Russian peasantry. Made from the bark of young twigs, these shoes are said to stand two years' wear; yet they are light and easy, and can be made to fit well. The linden forests of the prince of Monaco near Laon, France, Germans say would supply sufficient bark to make 1,000,000 shoes, and the making of them would furnish excellent light occupation for prisoners and slightly wounded.

Communal council of Charleroi will erect, on the square, a monument to the inhabitants of Charleroi who have died for their country.

INFLUENZA and Your Teeth

The Surgeon-General of the U. S. Army has urged clean teeth as one of the precautions you should take against the "Spanish" Influenza. But—first of all and most important—see your Doctor.

In keeping your teeth clean, brush them twice a day with Colgate's Ribbon Dental Cream. It is not a cure-all, but it is a safe, efficient, delicious dentifrice that is the choice of Dentists.

And brush them clean—cleaner than ordinary.

FUNERALS

BURNS.—The funeral of the late Miss Minnie Burns took place this morning at 10 o'clock from the home of her mother, Mrs. J. J. Burns, 121 Middle St. The service was held by Rev. Thomas Heagerty. There were many beautiful floral offerings; also spiritual ministrations from sympathizing relatives and friends. The bearers were Messrs. William Ryan, Joseph Coleman, Patrick McCarthy, Joseph Naphan, James Tully and John McCarthy. Interment was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery where Rev. Fr. Heagerty read the funeral service at the grave. Funeral Director James W. McKenna in charge.

LYNCH.—The body of the late John Lynch of Gray Street, Nashua, N. H., was sent to his home in that city for burial this afternoon by Undertakers James F. O'Donnell and Sons.

MARY.—The funeral of Mrs. Mary Rose Leary, beloved wife of Dennis Leary, took place this morning from her late home, 329 Lincoln Street, at 10 o'clock and was largely attended by many sorrowing relatives and friends. The funeral cortege proceeded to the Sacred Heart church where, at 8 o'clock, a funeral mass was celebrated by Rev. Bernard Fletcher, O.M.I. The soloists of the mass were sustained by Miss Mary Ella Burke. The sanctuary choir, under the direction of Mr. John Kelly, sang the Gregorian chant. Mr. John Kelly presided at the organ. There was a profusion of beautiful floral tributes to the direction and the church where the deceased was interred. The bearers were Messrs. William Ryan, Joseph Coleman, Patrick McCarthy, Joseph Naphan, James Tully and John McCarthy. Interment was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery where Rev. Fr. Heagerty read the funeral service at the grave. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertakers O'Donnell & Sons.

Great Victory

hills north of the Altitude river. At this particular point, the German lines have been pressed back or have been withdrawn so that a sharp angle has been created.

Advance Slowing Down

With the exception of the area north of Douai, there appears to have been a slowing down of the allied advance during the past couple of days. At this point, the British and American troops are still engaged in the advance on Thursday and Friday last week.

New Hun Defense Lines

This may indicate that the Germans have reached the Hindenburg or Brunhilde line. This position, while much less formidable than the Hindenburg line, is still strong enough to retard the allies.

The Hindenburg line runs from Antwerp to Ghent and thence to Tournai, Condé, Valenciennes, Solesmes, Cluses, Rethel, Vouziers, Dun-sur-Meuse and then down the base of the St. Mihiel salient to the Moselle, where it joins the old front running along the Lorraine and the Vosges to the Swiss frontier.

Vouziers Taken by French

French and British forces have virtually reached this line east of Arras and St. Quentin. British units are now in Solesmes, while the French, further south, are within four miles of Guise. On the Champagne front, General Derthelot is less than five miles from Rethel, while further east General Gouraud has taken Vouziers but has not penetrated much north of that place.

Yanks Through Kriemhilde Line

Americans fighting in the Argonne region are through the Kriemhilde line, but their progress there is slow. The Germans are following the methods of retreat used in the Marne and Somme salients in June and July. They have held their flanks fairly secure and have withdrawn their center. They have thus apparently escaped disaster around Laon.

Douai Virtually Taken

In the region of Douai, British troops are fighting their way forward against desperate resistance and in spite of numerous waterways. Douai is virtually reached while to the north the line is sagging off sharply to the east. Should Douai fall, the British will be able to advance on Valenciennes.

French Cross Oise River

The Oise river has been crossed by the French northeast of La Fere at Origny, and they have advanced close to the river to the north. In Albania, the Italians have captured Kavaya, 12 miles southeast of Durazzo.

5500 CIVILIANS LIBERATED

WILSON FRENCH TOOK LAON. PARIS, Oct. 13.—Sixty-five hundred civilians were liberated when the French troops entered Laon, it was officially stated tonight. The French have passed far beyond the town on the whole front between the Oise and the Aisne river.

SERBS PUSH ON AFTER

CAPTURING NISH. LONDON, Oct. 14.—After capturing Nish on Saturday, Serbian forces took possession of the enemy positions north of the town, according to the Serbian official statement issued today. French cavalry have occupied Bela Palanka.

FINLAND ORDERS HUN

ARMY TO GET OUT. STOCKHOLM, Oct. 14.—The Finnish government has asked Germany to withdraw her troops from Finland. The request was recently delivered to Gen. von Gotha, the German high commander on Finnish territory.

FRENCH TROOPS IN CONTACT

WITH RETIRING GERMANS. PARIS, Oct. 14.—French troops last night continued to keep in contact with the retreating Germans, the French war office announced today. The French repulsed the remaining enemy troops showing resistance on the north bank of the Aisne canal, south of Chateau Porcien.

Aerial postal service has been established between Paris and St. Nazaire.

GOOD INDICATIONS

AT LEAGUE STATION

Indications that the local grippe epidemic is abating were prevalent at the headquarters of the League of Catholic Women at the Knights of Columbus women today. The league sent out a notice this afternoon that its sewing workroom had been closed because enough material had been made by willing volunteer workers to supply all immediate needs of the league in fighting the present epidemic. The other work will go on as usual, however.

The league wishes to express its gratitude to the hundreds of women who gave their time to make gauze masks and other articles for grippe sufferers.

Mrs. Henry L. Rourke, in charge of the emergency headquarters of the league, reported this afternoon that fewer calls for assistance were being received today and that all indications pointed toward the abatement of the epidemic. About 80 runs were out on cases this morning and two were stationed at the isolation hospital.

Cardinal Here

His Eminence, William Cardinal O'Connell was in Lowell Saturday and paid an informal visit to the Knights of Columbus rooms and later to St. Patrick's rectory where he met several of the pastors of the city.

The chief purpose of the cardinal in coming here was to inspect the relief work being done in Lowell by the League of Catholic Women and the Catholic sisters of the city. He was well pleased with the work being done here and expressed his gratification at the co-operation of the league with the Lowell Guild. He presented the league $1000 as a gift to help in their relief work.

Following his visit to the league's emergency headquarters at the K. of C. rooms, His Eminence visited Monsignor O'Brien, pastor of St. Patrick's church, and met several other local pastors there. He was received upon his arrival in Lowell by Humphrey O'Sullivan.

Notre Dame Canteen

Mrs. J. F. Saunders has volunteered to sustain an emergency canteen at Notre Dame academy. Members of the Ladies Aid society of St. Patrick's parish and other young women of the parish will co-operate with the sisters of the academy in the work.

Rev. John P. Flynn, O.M.I., pastor of the Sacred Heart church, has offered his time and assistance to the officials of the league to be used in the present epidemic as they see fit.

Elliott Wood of Wood's Business College has offered his school to the league and has promised to look after all the stenographic work of the league. Two typewriters and all necessary writing material will be furnished by him at the present quarters of the league.

The Auto Question

The league is still in need of automobiles to convey its workers about the city. This is one of the most important phases of the present relief work and every effort is being made to have the general public know just how serious is the need. Many machines have already been contributed. Humphrey O'Sullivan has promised to have four cars at the disposal of the league at all times. People who are willing to donate the use of their car, even though for only a half day, should communicate with Mrs. Henry L. Rourke or one of her assistants at the K. of C. rooms. The telephone number is 1112.

Those who have made contributions of machines to date include the following: Miss Annie Devine, Miss May Scannell, Miss Anna Maguire, Mrs. Leon Mullen, Hon. James B. Casey, James O'Sullivan, N. C. Hinkley, John Tuohy, Miss Keith, Joseph A. Smith, Charles Holmes, Hugh J. Molloy, Albert B. O'Neil, Walter Hickey, Judge Bourke, Thomas Collins, Mr. Collyer, Mrs. Hugh Duggan, Peter W. Reilly, Miss Katherine Cawley, Frank McNabb, Mr. Cogger, Mr. Dostaler and Daniel Hogan, Julian Noa and Miss Jane Salisbury of the Emerson All Star Players, Mrs. E. A. McQuade, Mrs. Gilbreath.

Other contributors were Mrs. H. C. Mosker, Mrs. Thomas McCann, Miss Catherine O'Brien, the Singer Sewing Machine Co., the Saco-Lowell shop, Wood's Business College, Mrs. O'Connell representing the Ladies' auxiliary of the A.O.U., and Miss Maria Conroy. Money contributions were received from James Gorman, Mrs. Archibald Keith, Joseph Green, Mrs. Daniel Hogan, Mrs. Walter Bagshaw, Miss Annie Courtney, Mrs. Henry L. Rourke, Miss Nora Wright, Mrs. William P. Barry, Miss Mollie O'Sullivan, Miss Louise McCosker and others. The teachers of the city have also contributed to the work very generously.

NEWS OF THE DAY IN

THE POLICE COURT

Babina Raczka, aged 17 years, mother of a 15-days-old baby, was arraigned before Judge Enright in police court this morning, on a charge of polygamy, and through her counsel she entered a plea of not guilty. Joseph A. Barry was charged with a statutory offense in connection with the case, and he also denied the guilt. Both cases were continued until Saturday morning and the young woman, who was not able to furnish bail, was committed to the jail and given permission to take her child along with her.

The case of Hugh F. Mellan, charged with an illegal sale of liquor, was called on continuance and the defendant entered a plea of not guilty. After hearing the testimony, however, the court found otherwise and a fine of $50 was imposed. The defendant entered an appeal. There was another case against Hugh F. Mellan and Catherine F. Mellan for the illegal keeping of liquor, and that was dismissed.

Theodore Nowatzka went to the police station last night in an endeavor to secure information concerning the whereabouts of his son, and he became so boisterous in the station that Capt. Atkinson ordered him locked up on a charge of drunkenness. When he appeared in court this morning, Theodore was asked to plead to another complaint, that of neglecting his family, and he denied the guilt. The wife, who had filed the complaint, was called to the witness stand, but she testified that she was getting all the money she wanted from her husband, and the complaint of non-support was dismissed. The charge of drunkenness was placed on file.

Athanasios Mantouka was found guilty of neglecting his family, and he was placed in the care of the probation officer with the understanding that he will pay $7 a week for the support of his family. William J. Mathews, for a similar offense, was also placed on probation providing he pays $3 a week for the support of his wife.

Lanbo Galender was charged with the larceny of $70 from Costas Lolas, and inasmuch as he made a settlement with the complainant, the court placed the case on file. Patrick Troy was fined $15 for drunkenness, while Patrick J. McDermott, who was charged with a similar offense, entered a plea of not guilty and his case was continued for a week.

EMERGENCY KITCHEN

VERY BUSY PLACE

The emergency food kitchen at Grace Universalist church is doing a rushing business in serving stews to families that are unable because of the influenza to do their own cooking. In Middlesex village alone 20 quarts were served on Saturday and 18 on Sunday, and today the orders have been coming in so thick and fast that the staff of lady helpers has not been able to count them. Beef stew with vegetables is sold for 20 cents per quart; lamb stew with rice or with potatoes for 25 cents. No soup is served as this emergency food kitchen desires to avoid doubling the facilities for soup which are offered by the community kitchen at the Saco-Lowell shop. The emergency food kitchen is under the auspices of the Federation of Churches, and each church of the federation takes its turn, a day at a time, in carrying on the work. Today the King's Daughters of the Eliot Congregational Church, Mrs. Dillie, chairman; Thursday, Grace Universalist, Mrs. Stett, chairman; Friday, Kirk Street Congregational, Miss Hoyt, chairman; Saturday, St. Anne's church, Mrs. Tyler, chairman; Miss Flora Sprague is on hand every day to superintend the kitchen work and Miss Gertrude Friable, to

OFFICER M. J. CLANCY VICTIM OF GRIPPE

The news of the death of Police Officer Michael J. Clancy, which occurred Saturday afternoon, has caused sincere sorrow among those who had the pleasure of his acquaintance. Mr. Clancy possessed many admirable traits of character. Genial, modest, unassuming, truthful, upright, well educated, he was a true friend and always a gentleman. Wherever known, he was loved and respected. Although a man of splendid health and physical proportions, he has been the victim of the department to be stricken by the prevailing epidemic. He was aged 45 years. The expressions of sorrow elicited by the news of his death, especially along the beat on which he was well known, indicated the esteem in which he was held, even where a man of less genial temperament might be regarded with coldness and dislike. It is understood that when the deceased felt the first symptoms of the disease, he did not yield but continued at work until his illness compelled him to give up. Officer Clancy had been on the police force for 17 years. He came here from Ireland in 1899 and belonged to one of the best families in that country, one that had lost landed estates and suffered persecution through patriotic effort to improve conditions throughout the island. He is survived by four brothers, James J. of this city; Thomas of New York; John and Daniel of Ireland; three sisters, Miss Annie Clancy and Mrs. Martin Murray of this city and Miss Della Clancy; his mother and two nieces, in Ireland. The body has been removed to the home of his sister, Mrs. Martin Murray at 30 Cosgrove st.

Officer Clancy was a member of the Lowell Lodge of Elks and several other societies, including Division 11, A.O.H., and the Police Relief association. In his quiet way he performed many laudable acts of charity for destitute families with whom he came in contact in the course of his daily duties. His loss is deeply deplored by his police associates with whom he was a general favorite.

Rev. Leon Lamothe, O.M.I., takes exception to a statement in a morning paper to the effect that all Catholic churches held services yesterday. Fr. Lamothe is pastor of Notre Dame de Lourdes church in Branch street and in compliance with the order of the board of health, he said, no services were held there Sunday.

Dr. Harry H. Sumner of 294 Wentworth avenue, this city, has been promoted from first lieutenant to captain in the United States Medical corps and has been assigned assistant division surgeon of the 45th division now being organized at Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, Ohio. Capt. Sumner received his commission in August, 1917, and was called to service last January.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Johnson have returned to their home in Columbus, O., after spending part of their vacation here in Lowell. On their return trip to Columbus arrangements were made so as to see two of their three sons now in the service of Uncle Sam. Mr. Johnson is superintendent of the Columbus Power & Light Co. and left Lowell with his family about eight years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard F. Burns of 407 High street have received word that their son, Thomas J. Burns, has arrived safely in France. He left Lowell last July in the first quota for Syracuse, N. Y., and was transferred to Camp Merritt as physically fit for overseas duty. The young soldier was exceedingly gratified to hear that his chance had come to get to the scene of action instead of being kept here for limited duty. Three weeks ago while on a furlough to visit his parents and friends, he declared he never felt better in his life and was enthusiastic about army life as he found it.

Law governing the handling of such diseases as influenza and accordingly, the following statement was given out: "Inasmuch as influenza prevailing in epidemic form has been listed by the state board of health as a disease dangerous to the public health it is well at this time that the public in general should be advised as to the principles of the law governing such diseases. To wit:

"A. When a physician or a householder knows that a person is infected with a disease dangerous to public health, he shall immediately give notice to the office of the board of health.

"Consequently all such information in regard to influenza must be communicated forthwith to the local board of health.

"B. If a disease which is dangerous to the public health breaks out in a town, or if a person is infected with any such disease, the board of health shall immediately provide such hospital or place of reception, and such nurses and other assistance and necessities, as is judged best for his accommodation and for the safety of the inhabitants, and the same shall be subject to the regulations of the board of health; otherwise the house or place in which he remains shall be considered as a hospital, and all persons residing in or in any way connected therewith shall be subject to the regulations of such board, and, if necessary, persons in the neighborhood may be removed.

"Following from these extracts of the law, it is evident that all persons interested or demonstrated by the admirable spirit which has invigorated our public organizations to combat influenza and to assist the sick, should lend their energies to the full measure in co-operation with the health authorities under their head, as intended.

Therefore, the public in general, is instructed to send all such notices and all such calls for assistance primarily to the board of health so that these cases may first be noted and distributed to our various public organizations to ensure the most good."

The Church Question

At this morning's meeting of the board of health Mayor Thompson was present for a short time to ask if there had been any change in the board's ruling regarding the suspension of services in all local churches. The mayor said that he had had about 50 telephone calls this morning from people wanting to know if the churches had been re-opened. The mayor was told that there had been no change in the order of the board promulgated last Friday that all churches should suspend services.

Questioned at the close of the meeting as to whether he wished to make any further statement on the church question, Dr. Pierre Brunelle, chairman of the board, replied: "There is nothing further to say. The board of health has ordered all churches to suspend services. Beyond that, I have nothing to say."

Filling Up

The isolation hospital, or, to give it its official present title, "the temporary hospital for influenza patients," is rapidly filling up. Two wards are now opened and the opening of the third seems imminent. The women's departments in both wards are completely filled, there being 12 patients in each ward. There are 12 men in the men's department of the first ward, but only two in the second ward.

"There seems to be a greater call from women patients than from men," said Dr. C. R. Eskey, the federal officer who is in charge of the hospital. We have room for 10 more men in the two wards that are already open but owing to the demands from women patients, we shall soon have to open the third ward.

Questioned as to the nursing situation at the hospital, the doctor said that at the present time there was one graduate nurse from the state board of health, three from the Lowell General hospital, two from St. John's and two from the State infirmary in Tewksbury. The latter two will have to return to Tewksbury this evening, however.

Dr. Eskey said that two more nurses will have to be secured to take their places and if the third ward is open an additional graduate nurse will be needed. Thus the opening of the final ward is wholly contingent on the arrival of additional trained nurses.

Closing Stores

The attention of the board of health has been brought to the fact that some of the local stores are not living up to the board's orders that all stores, except food and drug stores, close at 6:30 at night. It has been decided to bring the matter to the attention of the mayor and, if necessary, have police officers see that the order of the board is enforced.

Middlesex Village Again

The matter of getting the Middlesex village under control so that laborers who are employed on government work in that vicinity may have a healthy place to live, was brought before this morning's meeting of the board again. It had previously come up at Friday morning's meeting. Dr. Carroll of the board of health said that Dr. Eskey and he had visited the place Friday noon and came away with the understanding that it was to be cleaned up within 48 hours. The owner of the building said that he had previously spent $700 to get it into condition and that in the past 19 years he had made only $300 from it.

Inspector William Connors of the health department again told of conditions there and Mr. Sheehan, a contractor doing government work near the tavern, said that he would do whatever he could to put the place in condition. It was finally decided to give the owner one more opportunity to put the building in a healthy condition.

WELL KNOWN TEACHER GRIPPE KILLS LOWELL PASSES AWAY BOYS IN SERVICE

In the death of Cornelius F. Callahan which took place at his home, 31 Georgia street, last night, Lowell loses a faithful public servant who made matters connected with the public schools his paramount interest for a period of more than 30 years.

Besides being a skilled and conscientious teacher as evidenced particularly by his long service at the Dut-

ler school, Mr. Callahan was a man widely known in the community for his geniality, broadness of vision and lively interest in all good movements for the betterment of his neighbors and especially the young men and women of Lowell.

Mr. Callahan's condition of ill health increased some time prior to the closing of the spring term of school last June but by power of his will he kept up his duties at the Butler school until the 1918 class graduated. He has been in particularly poor health this summer and his closest friends felt that he would not be able ever again to take up his beloved profession of teaching. This was increased when it came time to start the fall term in September and it was known Mr. Callahan's battle for his life was going against him.

The grippe epidemic is causing the death not only of a large number of Lowell's civilian population, but also of the Lowell boys in the national service. No less than five Lowell men have been reported dead within the past day or two because of influenza or one of its allied diseases.

Private Henry Cognac

Mr. and Mrs. Isadore Cognac of 24 While street have received news of the death of their son, Private Henry Cognac, who has been in France with the 7th Division from Camp Devens for some time. As far as is known this is the first death among the Lowell men who went overseas with this division. Private Cognac's death is attributed to broncho-pneumonia. The Lowell soldier was but 22 years old. Previous to entering the national service he was employed here by the Bay State Cotton corporation. He was a popular member of the C.M.A.C. Besides his parents, he leaves two brothers, Leon and Arthur, and three sisters, Mrs. Alfred Mailoux of Lynn and Misses Maria and Flore Cognac of this city.

Private William J. Wilbur

Private William J. Wilbur of this city died Saturday at the Troy City hospital, New York. He was 25 years old. He left Lowell for Westworth Institute, N. Y., some time ago and was later transferred to Watervliet arsenal, N. Y. He was a well known member of Cent. Gen. Dinon, Foresters of America and had been employed as a clerk by the J. L. Chaloux Co. He is survived by a brother, Frank A. Wilbur.

Sergeant Carl E. Fletcher

Sergeant Carl E. Fletcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence W. Fletcher of 96 Butterfield street, a member of the 437th Engineers, Depot Detachment, at Washington, D. C., died Friday at the Walter Reed hospital in Washington. He was 31 years old. Besides his parents he leaves a brother, Harry C. Fletcher.

Private Pickering

Private Frederick P. Durant Pickering, son of Samuel A. and Sophie L. Pickering of 59 Hastings street, died Friday evening in Syracuse, N. Y. He had been stationed at Syracuse university for two months.

The Lowell soldier attended the Morey grammar and Lowell high schools and had been employed in the Boston & Maine freight office in Thorndike street previous to his enlistment. He had tried several times to enlist but was rejected because of underweight. Finally he was assigned to Syracuse for special service.

He had passed an examination as an expert automobile mechanic and this would have entitled him to the rank of sergeant upon entering active service. A severe cold, brought on by overwork, terminated in pneumonia and eventually caused his death. His parents were at his bedside when he passed away.

The young soldier was a member of Farragut Camp, S. of V. The body was brought to Lowell yesterday afternoon, escorted by Sergeant Enrich Elliott of Indiana.

Private McDonald

Private Leo H. McDonald, a member of Battery D, 6th Regiment, F.A.R.D., son of Mrs. Joseph A. McDonald of 402 Mammoth road, died yesterday at Camp Jackson, S. C. He was 24 years old. Besides his mother he leaves three brothers, Arthur J., now in France; Albert J. and Ernest J., two sisters, Miss Agnes M. and Marie E.

MUST SUBSCRIBE THREE BILLION IN SIX DAYS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Unaffected by proposals of peace by Germany, the American people today set themselves to subscribe at least three billion dollars in the next six days to the Fourth Liberty loan—the greatest financial task ever placed before the nation.

Reports to the treasury department show that total subscriptions received through banks and trust companies to date amount to only $2,500,000,000. Subscriptions for which the 10 per cent. cash payment had not been made and unreported subscriptions were estimated as swelling the total to approximately three billion dollars. This left three billion dollars to be raised by the end of the week. More than a billion dollars must be subscribed daily this week to bring an over-subscription.

LOWELL BOY WINS APPOINTMENT

Another instance of the stuff our Lowell boys are made of comes in the news of the appointment of J. Warren Kane to the commissioned officers' training school at Camp Lee, Va. The young man is 22 years old and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Kane of 16 Hazel street. Mr. Kane was sent to the Vermont university as one of the September quota and remained there but three weeks. He succeeded in passing the examinations and received notification Friday evening to report immediately for the officers' training school at Camp Lee. Mr. Kane carries the best wishes of his many Lowell friends who will follow him with interest in his new environment.

Better Be Careful About Your Kidneys

BY N. D. COOK, M. D.

Foods taken into the stomach go through various chemical changes, and some of these changes are poisonous to the body. It is the duty of the kidneys to get rid of these poisons. When the kidneys do not fully perform their vital work, death may be only a few hours away. Happily, Nature has provided warning alarms telling people when their kidneys are not well. These warning signs are in the form of dragging pains in the back, low spirits, nausea, headache, scanty urine and frequent desire to pass it, short breath, numbness, cramps, coated tongue, bad breath, puffiness under the eyes, thin blood, dry skin, ringing in the ears, and many other symptoms. All come from the one cause of kidneys that are not filtering the poisons out of the system. To overcome these troubles, Dr. Pierce's of Buffalo, N. Y., compounded what he calls Anuric Tablets. No other kidney medicine is its equal in giving relief and in re-establishing healthful work in the kidneys. The treatment is very simple, as you need nothing except water when taking Anuric Tablets—a glass of water with each tablet. This washes and flushes the kidneys while the medicine itself is dissolving the uric acid poisons and driving them out. Anuric Tablets are made double strength, so that they dissolve uric acid the same as hot water dissolves salt or sugar. Most people need Anuric Tablets because most people have uric acid. Better get the poison out of your body for safety's sake, and better begin today.

To gently and agreeably coax the bowels back into normal activity, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are just as good for constiveness as his Anuric Tablets are good for kidney disorders, and that is saying a great deal.—Adv.

UNDER ONE FLAG

All National Flags under the Flag of all Nations! and woe betide the Nation that fails to respect it.

The Country, that runs the Flag of All Nations to the top, shall never be fired upon, but she must respect the Flag.

The Flag of All Nations for all the military and naval as well as for the merchant marine—their National Flag for civilians.

Let all the armies and navies in the World run up the Flag of All Nations to the top and fight for it only.

The Country that defies this flag and opposes all nations will then meet the military and naval pressure of all the fighting men and the economic pressure of the sailors and merchant marine.

The Bar of Justice of the Parliament of All Nations of the League of Nations must adjust and regulate all international affairs and disputes.

UNDER ONE FLAG

Establish the Bar of Justice, that our soldiers and sailors are fighting for—run the Flag of All Nations to the top and put all the Military, Naval and Merchant Marine under this Flag and bar all from serving under any other.

Impartial Justice, for and from all nations, under One Flag, is the only logical conclusion of this War—it will have cost a fearful price—most still cost a fearful price, but the future must be made safer and we must never have to fight under National Flags again.

The financial burdens will be so much lighter that not only future generations, but even we shall realize the benefit and the advantage of the new economic conditions.

UNDER ONE FLAG

The American Star is on that One Flag—never to come off—and we must fight until the Star of Every Nation is beside it.

No other Peace will suffice. Our Boys must not have died and fought in vain.

The cause we are fighting for must be won—it must be made clear to all—they have to carry on.

We must add to our Liberty Bonds till it hurts us, but in suffering we are making history—the finest history it has ever been the privilege of mortal man to devote his life, his work and his money to the making of.

Don't let your life unconsciously pass away and find that you missed your chance, your duty to do something great, to make your having lived count. Be glad that you live in these times and have the opportunity.

New Blow Launched By Allies Today May Prove Foch's Master Stroke

British, Belgian and French Forces Open New Drive

WITH THE ALLIED ARMIES IN FLANDERS—Oct. 14 (By the Associated Press, 10:30 a. m.).—British, Belgian and French forces attacked at dawn this morning on a wide front in Flanders. The allied troops are driving in the general direction of Ghent and Courtrai.

The attack seems to be generally from Comines to the northward. The troops of the three nations went over the top after a "crash" bombardment only. There was no preliminary bombardment. It undoubtedly tactically surprised the enemy.

In the British formations were some of Great Britain's best troops and the forces of the French were of famous fighting organizations. The Germans appear, perhaps prepared to retire to Ghent line.

By the fury with which the attack was launched, it is evident that the fighting armies are not paying the slightest attention to the "peace talk."

They smashed forward with all the dash characterizing the recent operation.

The blow in Flanders may prove to be Marshal Foch's master stroke. If the allied progress is continued, the Germans throughout a wide stretch of territory, taking in the most important part of the Belgian coast, including possibly all the important German submarine bases as well as the forces in the Lille salient, will either have to get out or face a second Sedan.

LOWELL BOY REAL HERO

Corp. Custeau Gets Service Cross for Act of Extraordinary Heroism

Corp. Odilon Custeau of Co. C, 103d Infantry, a Lowell boy, has been awarded a distinguished service cross for an act of extraordinary heroism "over there," according to an official announcement of the war department today.

According to the despatch Corp. Custeau was in action with his unit

near Belleau Woods on July 30. In the advance of the first wave, east from Belleau Woods, the Lowell soldier cleaned out, single-handed, a dugout of German machine guns.

Corp. Custeau had been in the national guard for four years and was at the Mexican border several years ago. He went overseas in September, 1917. His parents are dead. The heroic soldier is 26 years old and has two brothers in the service. Wilfred enlisted in the Canadian forces at the age of 19 and another brother, Arthur, Custeau received word from him about a month ago and at that time he was feeling fine. He has been "over the top" several times and was in the thick of the heavy fighting last July. He has come through it all without a scratch.

Spanish Influenza Record

Not one of the one hundred and twenty-five persons who had been taking Vitalitas who were interviewed at the Dows Drug Store in Lowell, Mass., had Spanish Influenza, this does not say if you take Vitalitas you cannot have it, but we do say that we believe it is the greatest corrective and preventative on the market. Vitalitas drives out the toxic poisons, builds up the red blood corpuscles and gives to the human system strength to resist disease. We urge every one who has not tried the Vitalitas treatment to call at our store and talk to the Vitalitas man and let him explain the merits of this wonderful remedy. Get it today at the Dows Drug Store, Merrimack Square.—Adv.

Repulse of Strong and Repeated Counter Attacks Announced by Pershing

Americans, With British and French Troops, Continue to Smash On

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Repulse of strong and repeated counter attacks upon the newly won American positions on both sides of the Meuse and continued participation by American divisions in successful operations on the British south of Le Cateau and the French in Champagne, is reported by Gen. Pershing in his communique for Sunday.

Fresh Hun Troops in Battle WITH THE AMERICAN FORCES NORTHWEST OF VERDUN, Oct. 14.—(Necro. By The Associated Press.)—Violent artillery actions were in progress today along the greater part of the American front. Little change was made in the line, but the Germans late last night laid down batteries that were preparatory to counter attacks of a small but vicious character.

The most determined effort made by the enemy was on the left across the River Aire between St. Juvin and St. Georges. The Germans advanced in open order and fought with a steadiness that indicated fresh troops. Within an hour, however, the American artillery, supporting the line of infantry with machine guns had brought the little offensive to a halt.

KAISER MUST GO

German Paper Sees in William II Last German Military Monarch

Beginning to Admit He Caused War—Sacrificed 2,000,000 Subjects

PARIS, Oct. 14.—Commenting on the German peace proposals the Volks Zeitung of Leipzig, Saxony, is quoted in a despatch from Switzerland, as saying:

"In the minds of the German people responsibility for the present situation centers more and more clearly each day on the person of the emperor."

"We see in William II the last German military monarch. He must feel that he can no longer be what he has thought himself since the first day of his reign—an instrument sent by God and above all the chief of the most brilliant and best organized army."

"In 1888 the emperor said he would sacrifice eighteen army corps and 42,000,000 inhabitants rather than give up a single stone conquered by his father. Two million dead are more than 18 army corps."

"The emperor always has asked great patriotic sacrifices from his subjects. It is now for him to show his spirit of sacrifice and to withdraw. He would thus give a brilliant example of his understanding of the times and would permit the German people to obtain better peace terms."

GRIPPE CHECKED

Material Decrease in Number of Cases Reported in This City Today

Statement Issued by Board of Health Regarding Law Governing Disease

A marked decrease in the number of new cases reported at the board of health office was the most encouraging feature of today's influenza epidemic developments locally.

Up to the noon hour only 134 cases were recorded which is the best Monday record that has been established for some time. Usually, there is an in-pouring of cases Monday and Tuesday following meagre reports on Sunday. But today there was no such influx and while the health authorities are not making any rash predictions, they believe that the disease is on the decline here.

Today's figure compares favorably with those of Saturday and Sunday. On Saturday 159 new cases were reported and yesterday 91. Last Monday no less than 454 cases were recorded and the Monday before, 533.

Therefore, today's comparatively low Monday figure is most encouraging from every viewpoint. The total number of cases to date from the beginning of the epidemic is 5268. Six more deaths were reported this morning, bringing the total to 217.

At a meeting of the board of health held this morning it was voted to make public certain extracts from the

PORTUGAL DECLARES A STATE OF SIEGE

LISBON, Portugal, Oct. 14.—The Portuguese government has declared a state of siege for all Portuguese territory. The president, as commander-in-chief of the military and naval units, has taken direct command of the forces. Tranquillity reigns in the country.

At Penafiel, 19 miles northeast of Oporto, there has been a small show of insubordination. A military force promptly reduced the rioters to obedience.

WILSON STUDIES OFFICIAL TEXT OF GERMAN NOTE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Germany's reply to President Wilson reached the Swiss legation in official form by cable this morning. It was in German text, a translation of which was identical with that received by wireless Saturday, which will be found elsewhere.

Instead of taking the note directly to the White House, as he did Prince Maximilian's peace plea, Frederick Oederlin, Swiss chargé d'affaires, communicated with the state department. He was asked to present it to Secretary Lansing at 11:15 o'clock.

Wilson to Act Quickly in Reply to Germany---Expected to Demand Surrender

The government of Germany in a note printed in this paper, makes reply to President Wilson's queries and offers to accept the terms of peace which he has outlined, and it further authorizes him to call for a mixed commission to arrange for the evacuation of the invaded territory. The authors of the note also claim that this proposition is concurred in by the representatives of the German people.

Let there be no misunderstanding of this unexpected step on the part of Germany. It is but a well devised scheme to secure a compromise peace or else to get time to rehabilitate the shattered armies of the empire, construct new battle lines and pile up munitions for a renewal of the war.

This note is sent out by the military authorities of Germany and in its preparation the people have had no part, although they undoubtedly want peace and they, like their military masters, must realize that the longer they hold out against the allies the worse will it be for Germany in the end.

This German note, therefore, comes from the kaiser and his military authorities and is an ingenious and peculiarly Germanic mode of appealing for an armistice which would probably give Germany three or four months for military recuperation and for the construction of strong defenses along her frontiers, after which she could refuse to accept the allied terms and resume the war with the hope of carrying it forward with increased power of resistance for at least two years more.

The entire allies with one acclaim oppose any peace parley with Germany. They will be satisfied with nothing less than unconditional surrender and that alone will satisfy the American people.

President Wilson was confident that he would propose an armistice, peace offer coming from the military authorities who are wholly untrustworthy; but meantime, the American people can give their answer and give it emphatically by putting the Fourth Fighting Liberty loan over the top with all possible haste. The military power of Germany must be destroyed so that it will no longer be a menace to the peace of the world. The granting of an armistice at this time would defeat that purpose.

Get Views of Allied Premiers
It is assumed that since Saturday night at least informal exchanges have taken place between Washington and the capitals of the belligerents. Informed of the views of the allied premiers, the president may determine before the day is over whether he will propose an armistice and peace negotiations shall be a refusal to make any such proposal at the instance of the present German government, or a renewed statement of the conditions under which peace must be restored.

May Call Joint Session of Congress
It was suggested that he might ask man communication since Saturday night, when the unofficial text reached them, and Secretary Baker, just back from France, was prepared to give first hand information about the situation at the hall-front, which has brought about the German eagerness for peace.

Col. House Joins in Conference
Colonel E. M. House, who accompanied the president last night on his return from New York, joined the conference. The only official intimation that has come regarding the probable course of the president is that he is sure to act quickly and positively. Everywhere in Washington, however, the confident belief prevailed that whatever might be the result of that action, it would not constitute a cessation of hostilities nor negotiations for peace with the German government, except upon conditions amounting to unconditional surrender.

Asked to Suspend Judgment
Last night the government asked the American people to suspend judgment upon the German note until the president could consider it. If the opinion of the man in the street is reflected by editorial comment coming from every corner of the country, the people already have made up their minds that there should be no temporary truce with an enemy whose word is worth only what the various allied armies make it.

CHRISTMAS MAIL RULES

Regulations Governing Sending of Packages to Soldiers and Marines

Information relative to the sending of Christmas packages to soldiers overseas has been received at the Red Cross rooms on Market street, and the material for making the cartons to hold the gifts will soon be ready for distribution to the Lowell people who are desirous of making up an attractive Christmas bundle which will go to some soldier who perhaps would otherwise spend a lonely Christmas, minus the pleasure of a gift. From present indications the necessary material may be secured on November 1, and people will be given an opportunity to call at the rooms from Nov. 1 until Nov. 22, and obtain same. These army regulations will apply to members of the Marine Corps whose address is "American Expeditionary Force." For all other marines the ordinary naval regulations will govern the transmission of gift parcels. Packages for shipment abroad must be in the mail by Nov. 20, bearing the address tags to be obtained from local Red Cross chapters. The war department will not accept more than one parcel for each man. The men themselves will decide who is to send these parcels. They are now receiving Christmas parcel labels, with instructions to mail these labels to the person in this country from whom they wish to receive the holiday box. Packages that do not bear these labels will not be authorized. In the event of this label being lost it cannot be replaced. The cardboard boxes, or cartons, to be provided for these parcels are 3x15x9 inches in size. When packed, wrapped and ready for mailing these boxes must not weigh more than three pounds. The American Red Cross has agreed to provide these cardboard boxes and to supervise their distribution to relatives of the soldiers who present the proper Christmas parcel label credential. It will be incumbent upon the person receiving one of these boxes to return it when filled, but unwrapped, to the collection point designated by the Red Cross inspectors authorized to exclude any articles barred by the postal authorities, after which the box will be shipped. On receiving one of these Christmas parcel labels it should be presented at the nearest chapter, branch or auxiliary headquarters of the Red Cross, where the holder will receive a carton. These labels are not expected to reach this country before Nov. 1, but by that time each Red Cross branch will have its allotment of boxes, based on the number of soldiers in service overseas from that community. The articles prohibited are all intoxicating liquors, all inflammable material, including friction matches and any composition likely to ignite or explode (cigarettes, lighters come under this classification), liquids and fragile articles improperly packed. Under the postal regulation no note or message or written matter of any kind will be permitted to remain in the boxes. Do not put anything in the packages which will not keep fresh until Christmas. Pack dried fruits and other food products in small tin or wooden boxes. Give preference to hard candy over chocolates, unless the latter are enclosed in heavy wrappers. Soft chocolates may spoil the other contents. Do not put articles packed in glass in the packages. Gifts should be wrapped in khaki-colored handkerchiefs, twenty-seven inches square. After the package has passed the inspection of the Red Cross representatives, as to contents and weight, and been wrapped in stout paper, the Christmas label bearing the address for the man for whom it is intended, is placed on it. The person sending the package, in the presence of the Red Cross worker, is required to affix stamps sufficient to carry it to Hokenok, N. J. The postal charges are to be at the rate of fourth-class or parcel post zone rate. A label certifying that the inspection has been completed by the Red Cross is placed on the package, which is left in the custody of the Red Cross until delivered to the postal authorities.

THE STUDENTS' ARMY TRAINING SCHOOL

His hundreds of friends in this city gained during the time he was a student at the high school and since he entered the business life of the city as an employee of his father's store, will feel extremely sorry that Cyrus Fidler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Fidler, is to leave Lowell and make his home for the time being in Boston, in order to serve the United States government. Upon his graduation from Lowell high school, Mr. Fidler entered the law school of Boston university and last June finished the junior year of his course. This fall he is permitted to return to his studies as a member of the senior class of the law school, but he will also be a member of the Students' Army Training school, under military discipline and manner of living, at all times.

One evening at the close of business at his father's store, Boston Ladies' Outfitters, Mr. Fidler received a surprise in the form of a number of the workers in the store as well as some of his friends not connected with the store, suddenly surrounding him and making him the recipient of a box of cigars and a gold service ring. His father who is recognized as one of the most patriotic men in the community had previously given his son a $500 Liberty bond and a soldier's wrist watch.

KENWOOD WOMAN HIT BY JITNEY

Mrs. Agnes Delaney of Perry street, Kenwood, was struck by a jitney on the Lawrence road about nine o'clock last night. The accident occurred near Kenwood. Mrs. Delaney having just alighted from arolley on her way home, when the machine struck her, immediately overturning in the ditch with its full load of passengers, none of whom, strange to say, was injured. The car was driven by Michael Tannon for the Lowell Taxicab Co.

The injured woman was immediately taken to St. John's hospital, where it was found that she was suffering from abrasions of the arms and legs and a laceration on the head. She was reported today as resting comfortably.

LONDON JUBILANT OVER NEWS OF VICTORIES

LONDON, Oct. 14.—News of the allied victories on an increasing scale in France and the evidence supplied by Germany's reply to President Wilson that the German army although not yet beaten was sorely in need of a lull had a cheering effect on London's people yesterday. The belief that a victorious peace had been brought nearer, was evident in the demeanor of the crowds, although the first impressions that the German answer meant complete acceptance of the allied demands were modified by the reserved attitude evident in official quarters and the tone of the press comment.

EARTHQUAKE KILLS OVER 100 IN PORTO RICO

SAN JUAN, P. R., Sunday, Oct. 13.—With all the bodies not yet recovered, it is probable that 100 or more persons lost their lives at Mayaguez, a seaport on the western coast of Porto Rico, in last Friday's earthquake. That city is in terror as the result of a continuance of minor quakes. Many inhabitants are homeless and others are afraid to enter their homes to sleep at night.

LOWELL BOY ASSISTING SECRETARY MADDOO

Private James A. Porter is the Lowell boy who had the honor of assisting Secretary of the Treasury Maddoo in a Liberty bond rally in a New York theatre last Friday evening. Private Porter is a member of Co. M of the 39th Infantry and was wounded in France Sept. 17, according to word received by his aunt, Mrs. Elizabeth McCarthy of 73 Stanley street. He has been sent back to this country during his convalescent period. At the present time he is assisting in the Liberty loan drive in New York city.

In a letter to his cousin, Frederick McCarthy, dated New York, Sept. 30, he tells of his home-coming in the following jubilant mood:

Dear Cousin Fred: Just a line to let you know that I am knocking them all dead in New York. I am having

ing the time of my life, sleeping in the best hotels and eating the best of food. They call us "America's heroes" here.

Well, Fred, I suppose you know that when a lad gets wounded he gets a gold bar on his right arm. I am proud of it and I want you to be. The "kid" has been somewhere and I am going to tell you all about it soon because when I got through with this Liberty loan drive I am coming home for a few weeks. I sent that great news?

I was at a show yesterday and they were selling Liberty bonds. A man said to me, "Are you wounded, son?" I said, "Yes sir." Then he said, "I would give $2000 for a stripe like yours; I know you have been through hell for us people over here."

Well, Fred, I will close, hoping to get a long, long letter from you soon.

JIMMIE.

GENUINE SAMPLE OF YANKEE GRIT

The Irishman who threw a hand grenade into a German dugout, the contents of which he told the 10 Boches there to divide impartially among themselves, has nothing on one of Groton's soldier boys, who recently captured 13 Hunns single-handed, and brought them safely into camp. One of the incidental results of this piece of Yankee grit comes in the announcement that the lad in question, Lawrence, Gay, of Headquarters Company, 101 Field Artillery, has received not only the commendation of the entire company but a sergeant's pay as well.

Sergeant Gay is one of three brothers, all of whom are in the service. William is serving with the American forces in France, and John is at Camp Devens. The young man was known to Groton people as a quiet, unassuming chap, with a pleasant disposition and a ready smile. In a letter to his parents, the young man, in referring to the incident, merely says that the Hunns were easily taken.

LOWELL BOY MISSING IN WAR ZONE

Another Lowell boy is missing "somewhere in France." Private Rosario Leblen of Co. M of the 101st Regiment, son of Mrs. Denise Leblen of 29 Beaver street, is reported missing since Sept. 14, according to a telegram recently received by his mother.

1000 LIVES LOST

Large Section of Minnesota
in Ruins With Bodies
Strewn About Countryside

Disastrous Fires Wipe Out
Dozen Towns—Thousands
Are Homeless

DULUTH, Minn., Oct. 14.—A large section of northeastern Minnesota—three days ago a busy and prosperous business and farming community—today was a smoldering ruin with hundreds of bodies of men, women and children, many of them burned beyond recognition, strewn about the countryside, as the result of the disastrous fires which swept this territory Saturday and Sunday.

Death List Close to 1000

Latest estimates place the death list at close to 1000. Hundreds of persons are more or less seriously burned, thousands are destitute and homeless and the property loss will reach many millions of dollars. At least a dozen hamlets and towns were destroyed. The worst places were at Moose Lake, Kettle River and Cloquet. In Moose Lake and immediate vicinity, it is estimated more than 300 perished in the flames. Between 300 and 400 coffins have been ordered sent to this town alone.

Although countless small fires were burning throughout the district today and the more serious blazes died down considerably during the night, a revival of the 70-mile-an-hour gale of Saturday would bring further horrors.

Scene Beggar Description
MOOSE LAKE, Minn., Oct. 14.—The scene around Moose Lake which is in the heart of the burned area beggars description. The country for 20 miles around is a smoldering ruin with perhaps six or seven buildings still standing. The first automobiles reaching here with aid passed scores of bodies. Stories were told of half-crazed settlers who wandered aimlessly about.

Bodies of Four Score Victims

At Moose Lake, temporary morgues have been established and here lie the bodies of four score victims.

Four miles west of here, on a farm, the bodies of 17 men, women and children were found in a cellar. They had been baked to death. Two miles farther on, at another farm, 14 bodies were taken from a well where the fire-driven unfortunates had sought safety.

MR. P. H. MCHUGH

103 Church Street, Montreal.

December 10th, 1917.

"I was a great sufferer from Rheumatism for over 16 years. I consulted specialists, took medicines, used lotions; but nothing did me good.

Then, I began to use "Fruit-a-tives"; and in 15 days, the pain was easier and the Rheumatism was better. Gradually, "Fruit-a-tives" overcame my Rheumatism; and now, for five years, I have had no return of this trouble. Also, I had severe Eczema and Constipation, and "Fruit-a-tives" relieved me of these complaints; and gave me a good appetite; and in every way restored me to health."

TEXT OF GERMAN REPLY TO WILSON'S NOTE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—The text of the note of the German government accepting President Wilson's peace terms is as follows:

"In reply to the questions of the president of the United States of America the German government hereby declares:

"The German government has accepted the terms laid down by President Wilson in his address of January the eighth and in his subsequent addresses on the foundation of a permanent peace of justice. Consequently its object in entering into discussions would be only to agree upon practical details of the application of these terms. The German government believes that the governments of the powers associated with the government of the United States also take the position taken by President Wilson in his address. The German government, in accordance with the Austro-Hungarian government, for the purpose of bringing about an armistice, declares itself ready to comply with the propositions of the president in regard to:

evacuation. The German government suggests that the president may occasion the meeting of a mixed commission for making the necessary arrangements concerning the evacuation. The present German government, which has undertaken the responsibility for this step toward peace, has been formed by conferences and in agreement with the great majority of the reichstag. The chancellor, supported in all of his actions by the will of this majority, speaks in the name of the German government and of the German people.

WAR LOST IF ARMISTICE
GRANTED, SAYS LODGE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Acceptance in any degree of the German reply to President Wilson's note, including the granting of an armistice, means the loss of the war for the allies, Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, minority leader and ranking republican of the foreign relations committee of the senate, declared last night in a statement.

The note, as received unofficially, is not a surrender on Germany's part, as Sen. McAdoo and others claim. Senator Lodge said, but is "highly conditional."

The senate republican leader demanded an unconditional surrender or the allies would be "led to humiliating defeat by a peace of bargain and compromise."

"Mr. McAdoo and some of the press speak of the German note, if authentic, as a complete surrender," said Senator Lodge.

Note Not a Surrender

"It is nothing of the kind. It is just the reverse. It is not a surrender and it is highly conditional. If we accept that note it means that Germany has failed to conquer the world at this moment and that we have lost the war."

The president made three inquiries. He proposed no terms; he inquired.

SPANISH INFLUENZA—WHAT IT IS AND HOW IT SHOULD BE TREATED

Nothing New—Simply the Old Grip, or La Grippe That Was Epidemic in 1889-90, Only Then it Came From Russia by Way of France, and This Time by Way of Spain.

Go to Bed and Stay Quiet—Take a Laxative—Eat Plenty of Nourishing Food—Keep up Your Strength—Nature is the "Cure."

ALWAYS CALL A DOCTOR

NO OCCASION FOR PANIC

Spanish influenza, which appeared in Spain in May has all the appearance of grip or la grippe, which has swept over the world in numerous epidemics as far back as history runs. Hippocrates refers to an epidemic in 412 B. C. which is regarded by many to have been influenza. Every century has had its attacks. Beginning with 1521, this country has had no epidemics, the last in 1889-90.

There is no occasion for panic; influenza itself has a very low percentage of fatalities—not over one death out of every four hundred cases, according to the N. C. Board of Health. The chief danger lies in complications arising, attacking principally patients in a run down condition—those who don't get to bed soon enough, or those who get up too early.

THE SYMPTOMS

Grippe, or influenza as it is now called, usually begins with a chill followed by aching, feverishness, and sometimes nausea and dizziness, and a general feeling of weakness and depression. The temperature rises, the food remains perfectly quiet and doesn't worry, quinine, aspirin or Dover's Powder, etc., may be administered by the physician to relieve the aching, but there is no cure or specific for influenza—the disease must run its course, but Nature will throw off the attack if only you keep up your strength. The chief danger lies in the complications which may arise. Influenza so weakens the body's resistance that there is danger of pneumonia or bronchitis developing, and sometimes inflammation of the middle ear, or heart affection. For these reasons, it is very important that the patient remain in bed until his strength returns—stay in bed at least two days or more after the fever has left you.

THE TREATMENT

Go to bed at the first symptoms, not only for your own sake but to avoid spreading the disease to others—take a purgative, eat plenty of nourishing food, remain perfectly quiet and don't worry. Quinine, aspirin or Dover's Powder, etc., may be administered by the physician to relieve the aching, but there is no cure or specific for influenza—the disease must run its course, but Nature will throw off the attack if only you keep up your strength. The chief danger lies in the complications which may arise. Influenza so weakens the body's resistance that there is danger of pneumonia or bronchitis developing, and sometimes inflammation of the middle ear, or heart affection. For these reasons, it is very important that the patient remain in bed until his strength returns—stay in bed at least two days or more after the fever has left you.

Armistice Up to Foch

Skeptical of the declaration that the German government represents the people, the Telegraph points out the fact that the German emperor appoints the chancellor, who makes his own ministry. The paper is emphatic that the question of an armistice must be in the hands of Marshal Foch, but insists that one could not be possibly granted without adequate guarantees, for instance, the surrender of certain strategic points in Germany.

The Times regards Germany's answer as neither candid or straightforward, and says that Germany evades and attempts to confuse plain issues.

Details All Important

"She will be in exactly the same position territorially as she was when the war began. Then she will discuss under the president's general propositions the details. The details include everything that is vital: Alsace-Lorraine; Italy Irredenta; the independence of the Czech-Slovaks. Jugo-Slavs and Poland; the expulsion of Turkey from Europe, and much else equally important to a real peace; and we are to sit around a table and discuss them with Germany, who can refuse everything she does not like under the threat of renewing the war in a more advantageous position."

"It will be a peace of bargain and compromise and the president has said that there can be no peace obtained by any kind of bargain or compromise."

"Our only assurance for what may be agreed to after weeks of discussion would be the German word and the German signature, both worthless."

Sees Victory in Sight

"The president has said that 'we cannot accept the word of those who forced this war upon us.' The government of Germany has not changed. The chancellor has changed. Changing the chancellor no more changes the German government than the president changing his secretary of state would change our government."

"There is nothing in the propositions

about reparation; nothing about the destruction of life by submarine warfare. We should be left to the mercy of the German diplomats to decide what reparation we should obtain, what retribution there should be for the murders of the submarines.

"If the German note is authentic and we accept it in any degree the war is lost and all our sacrifices have been made in vain. We are on the eve of victory. We must have an unconditional surrender. We must impose our own terms. If we accept the German note there will be no surrender and we shall be left to humiliating defeat by a peace of bargain and compromise."

GERMAN PEOPLE CHEER
REPLY TO WILSON

LONDON, Sunday, Oct. 13.—When workers quitted the factories in the suburbs of Berlin on Saturday night, many thousands of men and women thronged to the center of the city and waited for hours for the German reply to President Wilson, according to a Copenhagen despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co. Extra editions with the text were issued at 10 o'clock and were received with enthusiasm, many women bursting into tears.

The Vorwarts of Berlin publishes an article warning the Pan-Germans, who are preparing counter actions to secure the continuance of the old system, that they are pursuing a dangerous course and should beware of exchanging the people's patience. It declares that every conspiracy will be stopped with a strong hand. A proclamation demanding a socialist republic has been published, but the papers printing it have been seized. Scandinavian papers believe that peace is near.

WEAK, RUN DOWN WOMAN

Tells How Vinol Made Her Strong

So, Kuukaua, Wis.—"I was weak, all run down, tired all the time, and had asthma so I could hardly keep around and do my housework. After everything else had failed to help me, Vinol built me up and made me well and strong."—Mrs. Jay Parker.

The reason Vinol was so successful in Mrs. Parker's case, is because it contains the necessary elements to create an appetite, aid digestion, make pure blood and create strength. It is the beef and cod liver peptones—iron and glycerophosphates in Vinol—that does it—you will not be disappointed if you try it. FIRES AND THEIR CAUSES

This is a time for conservation of money, of food, of material and of practically everything that is necessary to sustain life. In line with the policy of conservation, it is most important to prevent destruction of property which of late results to a vast extent from fires not only in cities and towns but in wooded districts where the only cause that can properly be assigned is absolute carelessness.

The fire underwriters of the country are continually appealing to the public to guard against fires of all kinds. Many cities have made strict regulations calculated to remove the causes of fire, but in numerous cases these regulations are either forgotten or ignored.

The underwriters find that the causes of fire may be enumerated under five heads, namely, enemy fires, fires for fraud, pyromaniac fires, spite fires and fires accessory to other crimes. There is no doubt whatever that German spies or other alien enemies have started a great many of the most destructive fires that have occurred in this country since 1914. Many of these enemies have been caught and punished but there is evidence that there are still many of them at work. Inasmuch as in some cases they secure employment in the factories which they intend to burn, it is very difficult to detect their operations or to find even a clue to the identity of the perpetrators. These alien enemies direct their nefarious work particularly against munition factories, ship yards, freight trains loaded with supplies and transports destined for Europe. Many of these plotters for a time carried on the business of manufacturing bombs and placing them upon outgoing vessels in order to start fires and cause explosions that would destroy the ships when a few days out from port. Most of these plotters were apprehended and their activity was stopped. There is still, however, good ground to believe that alien enemies are inflicting serious loss upon the nation almost daily. In one case it will be a powder factory that is destroyed, in another a shell loading plant and so on. The loss in such fires is simply enormous. As an instance it may be mentioned that the estimated loss resulting in the fire at the munition factory at Morgan, N. J., will exceed $25,000,000.

These incendiaries do not care how many lives are lost. They undertake to destroy the factories and the loss of life becomes incidental. The department of justice is doing everything possible to prevent these outrages, but they are now being planned with such secrecy as to baffle all the detective skill that can be used against them.

But in spite of the serious character of this menace, it appears that many serious fires are unjustly attributed to this cause. Many that result from carelessness are often laid at the door of alien enemies. It is still true as in former years, that certain parties set fire to buildings in order to get insurance. This is particularly true of itinerant traders who go into elms and start up in business only to meet with failure as a result of a foolish venture, or else through a wilful intention to defraud the insurance companies. Anyhow, a fire occurs in the little store, the proprietor of which is conveniently absent. It may spread to other buildings and do very serious damage. Many such fires have destroyed whole blocks and caused the loss of numerous lives. This, it appears, is a serious menace to the average city, and one for which the fire department must be continually on the lookout. In some cities firemen have become so familiar with suspicious fires that they can almost predict where they are likely to occur, judging from the business and the antecedents of the men who run certain stores.

There are also many fires set by people who have a mania for destruction of this kind. One will start a fire in order to see the engines dashing along the street; another to draw a crowd and witness the excitement, and others from the sheer devilry of the thing. Pyromaniacs, however, are not very numerous and their action is so open and undisguised that they are soon caught. In every case they are found to be suffering from a mild form of insanity. The fires accessory to other crimes are also rather numerous. Burglars break into buildings and start a fire to attract attention while they get away. Murderers occasionally try to hide their crimes by starting a fire to burn up the bodies of the victims, but in such cases there is usually some clue that reveals the murder and leads to the conviction of the culprit.

During the fall season forest fires are most common and with the present high price of lumber, such a fire is now very much more serious than in former years. Whether a person buys wood for fuel or lumber for building purposes, he will find that prices are several times as high as they were a few years ago. The price of lumber at present is almost prohibitive except where building is imperative.

There is danger of starting fires in attempting to burn up dry leaves or rubbish in the fall. There is an ordinance forbidding this without a permit from the fire department, and it is understood that the authorities intend to enforce it. Unless the people throughout the city and the suburban towns co-operate with the firemen and fire wardens many destructive fires will result that would otherwise be prevented.

Lowell has recently been reasonably free from very destructive fires and it is to be hoped that every citizen will exercise due care to co-operate with the firemen in keeping up this creditable record. Hunters who go to the woods in the neighboring towns must also exercise care against starting grass or other fires that might spread to wooded districts and destroy much valuable timber. The fire wardens in the suburban districts are exercising great vigilance in order to prevent fires at this season, when owing to the dry weather, everything is favorable to the spread of a small fire until it becomes a conflagration.

MORE FRIGHTFULNESS

The new outbreak of frightfulness by Germany should serve to intensify the desire to break for all time the military power of this outlaw nation. It appears that Germany has put into operation a new and more powerful style of submarine which has already succeeded in sinking several ships and causing the loss of many hundreds of lives. Her scientists have also invented a style of bomb calculated to prove more effective than any other yet used for the destruction of towns and cities from which the Huns are forced to flee. The bomb is of such a chemical nature that once it explodes, it continues to burn for a considerable time and the ordinary method of extinguishing a fire seems to have no effect upon it. The application of water only makes it burn faster and spreads the flame more widely. This is the bomb which Germany is using for the destruction of French and Belgian towns and cities. She is also dragging off the able-bodied male population of the territory from which she retreats with the intention of forcing them to do the most arduous part of the work of raising fortifications wherever the German forces attempt to make a stand against the allies.

These outrages and many other that might be mentioned are fully on a par with any that Germany committed earlier in the war, so that nothing less than the destruction of German power will satisfy the allied nations or serve the purpose of bringing permanent peace. It is useless, therefore, as well as unjust to President Wilson, to assume that there is anywhere any sentiment in favor of a negotiated peace with Germany. Nothing will suffice but unconditional surrender.

FIGHTING THE EPIDEMIC

The local board of health can much better afford to be criticized for taking drastic measures to fight the influenza than for failing into the other extreme. While so many deaths have resulted from this disease we do not believe that the board can be criticized for taking any measure whatsoever calculated to check the spread of the epidemic and lessen the number of deaths.

The business men whose stores have been closed for an indefinite period and who, therefore, suffer a severe financial loss have the greatest cause of complaint. But even in this case the public will approve the action of the health authorities if such a step seems to be actually necessary as a precaution against the further spread of the epidemic.

Only a few days more remain for registration for the coming state election. It is understood that a very large number of voters, mostly democrats, has been dropped from the voting list. It is important that these matters should be attended to without further delay. The coming election will be one of greater moment than is generally supposed. It will be one in which the democratic voters should come out in full force to show that there is a strong sentiment in support of the administration at Washington and of the war policy of President Wilson. Republican papers have been boasting that the vote at the primary elections indicated a very considerable majority. This applies to the vote of the entire state which naturally shows a republican majority, but it is believed that a great many liberal republicans will vote for democratic candidates in November purely from a sense of patriotic duty.

One of the bravest chapters of America's participation in the war on the Huns will have to do with the heroic stand of the 77th Division, now famous as the "lost battalion," when though surrounded by Huns for four days, it refused to surrender and was finally rescued by comrades. Future generations of the family of Maj. Whittlesey, the "lost battalion's" commander, will have nothing more splendid to recount than the major's now historic reply to the demand of the German commander that he and his men surrender, which consisted of three short words directing the Hun commander to go to the hottest place imaginable.

Even so grand a wedding present as $50 in money and 10 Portland house lots, together with the eel of being publicly married at a land sale in an automobile, apparently failed to guarantee a harmonious and happy married life for Mrs. James Allen McLaughlin of Portland. She now asks the divorce court to free her from the legal bonds which unite her to James. She recites in her petition that although James previously earned his living as a capable marine cook, after marriage, he scouted up 17 hearty eating boarders and compelled her to support him by cooking for them. Just the ending that might be expected from that kind of a marriage.

There is a distinct note of sadness in the little news despatch from Belfast, Me., last week, telling of the suicide of Mrs. Mattie D. Stephenson, 73 years old. She lived alone. In a note she left she said she had been driven to hang herself through fear of the long, cold winter she knew was on its way. She made her little home spotlessly clean and laid out the clothes in which she wished to be buried. A pity surely that nobody knew the dire necessity that pressed upon the aged lady. How many would have been ready to aid her?

The editor of "As the World Wags" in the Boston Herald, the noted Philip Hale, tells a reader that he cannot sing the "Star Spangled Banner" or "Over There," though he recognizes both as being good tunes. He adds that he cannot sing any tune, national, sacred or profane. We are glad he sings no profane tunes. That increases his chance, no doubt, of attaining that perfect running, gold typewriter in heaven that all good newspapermen like himself are credited with being given by St. Peter when they reach the gate.

There has been surprisingly little complaint or criticism that the national authorities sought to conserve gasoline by making it bad form to motor on Sunday. "Never was something good but what it might be made better," is perhaps the theory which is behind the announcement from W. Champlin Robinson that gasless Sundays are to be abandoned and a new plan devised. The old plan worked fine and enthusiasm ought not to be allowed to have it discarded while the need of conservation remains.

By every indication and based on all the information the ordinary American citizen can obtain, the Hun comes seeking peace not with the olive branch or a dove in his hand, but a firebrand, and while he blabbers about the peace he wants, there is no guarantee but that he is adding to Belgium's fires by putting the firebrand behind him and starting more fires. Was there ever a more audacious thing than German gall?

Most people are well aware of the fact that in calling the Germans, Dutchmen, the worst injustice and indignity possible is done to that sturdy little nation, Holland, whose people may be called Hollanders, Dutch or Hollandaise. It is for this reason that the newly formed 12th Division at Camp Devens, in hunting around for a suitable nickname for itself had to reject the sobriquet of "Dutch Cleansers."

Now has come an announcement that Germany plans to start a "league of nations." Nations thoroughly acquainted with Germany's record in connection with looting Belgian churches and enslaving the Belgian people upon receiving a bid to come into a "League of Nations," will undoubtedly regard it as an invitation to join a "Forty Thieves" society.

Unexpected Hint

The visitor had dropped in "just for a minute," but she remained about three hours after the minute was up. Little Freddie had formed several plans, the execution of which must be postponed till the departure of his mother's guest, so he sat quietly thinking things.

"Dear little man!" gushed the vis-

tor. "And what is he thinking about so deeply?"

"I was wondering if it wasn't time for you to be going," said Freddie.

"Hush!" said his mother. Then, turning to her guest: "You mustn't be offended, Mrs. Smith. Children will go blurt out the truth without thinking, but they don't mean anything by it."

Then Mrs. Smith recollected that she had only three minutes in which to catch the last car home.—Rochester Sunday Herald.

Their Names Have Faded

Nothing is better calculated to encourage humility in young men about to enter upon a political career than a study of the roster of congress for years only lightly veiled in "the pathos of distance."

Among United States senators from the middle west in 1863-9 were Lyman Trumbull, Richard J. Oglesby and Richard Yates of Illinois, Henry S. Lane, Oliver P. Morton and Thomas A. Hendricks of Indiana, James Harlan and Samuel J. Kirkwood of Iowa, Samuel C. Pomeroy and James H. Lane of Kansas, Zachariah Chandler and Jacob M. Howard of Michigan, Alexander Ramsey and Daniel S. Norton of Minnesota and Benjamin F. Wade and John Sherman of Ohio.

In the lower house sat Elihu B. Washburne, Owen Lovejoy and William R. Morrison of Illinois; Schuyler Colfax, George W. Julian, Daniel W. Voorhees, William S. Holman and Godlove S. Orth of Indiana; William B. Allison, Josiah B. Grinnell, John A. Kasson and James F. Wilson of Iowa; James A. Garfield, Rufus B. Hayes and Robert C. Schenck of Ohio.

In the same group of states in the '80s we find David Davis, John A. Logan, Joseph E. McDonald, Benjamin Harrison, Thomas W. Ferry, Henry P. Baldwin, William Windom, Samuel J. R. McMillan, Algernon S. Paddock, Alvin Saunders, M. H. Carpenter, John J. Zucalis and Preston B. Plumb, all senators in congress. In this same period the Ohio delegation in the lower house included Benjamin Butterworth, A. J. Warner, Thomas Ewing, Charles Foster, Frank H. Hurt, J. Warren Keifer and William McKinley.

How many students in the high schools and colleges would recognize any considerable number of these names or have any idea of the nature of the public service these men performed? To be sure, three members of congress from Ohio in the years indicated, and one senator from Indiana, reached the White House; but at least two-thirds of the others enjoyed a wide reputation, either as politicians or statesmen or as both.—Meredith Nicholson, in Scribner's.

One day last week it looked as if an impromptu animal exhibition two or three small boys staged in front of a closed up saloon in Merrimack street might attract large enough crowd so that pedestrians would have to take to the highway. Two boys of the group saw a sleek white cat sunning herself in the front window of the saloon. Somehow I never remember to have seen a lean or ill fed looking cat in a bar room. Oddly enough each of the boys produced a pet white rat from his pocket and showed it to the kitty. The kitty at first examined the two long tailed white rats as they cavorted on the brass railing outside the window, with the interest to be expected of a good sporting cat whose home was in a bar room. Finally, however, she seemed to realize the stout plate glass was between herself and the rat meat and she again settled down and watched the boys and the rats in a bored sort of a way.

Undertakers with whom I have talked tell me there are still families to be found who insist on having the casket plate of a dead relative removed from the coffin before burial takes place and who keep it in the home. The undertakers advise against this being done as they state that the sole purpose of the casket plate is to establish, as near as it is possible to do it in an imperishable manner, the permanent identity of the remains. In rare cases it is necessary to exhumate bodies and the presence of a name plate on the casket establishes beyond all legal doubt, the identity of the person buried. The undertakers point out that it is rather a gruesome and sad memento to have in one's home, and I agree with them.

Of course it would be one of the things to accompany this dreadful scourge of influenza that coincident with its ravages there should be fewer or no house flowers to be obtained than is usually the case. Of course there has been an unprecedented demand for flowers owing to the number of sick persons for whom relatives like to buy flowers, as well as the many funerals. But there is a situation now where often times you can buy only bunches of mountain laurel or forists' evergreens, tied tastefully but sadly with silver grey ribbon. It is said that the purchase of flowers as tributes to the dead is a waste of money and so it is; but to the bereaved family it brings a measure of consolation which is the main consideration.

Many Lowell people became acquainted with the late Francis A. Hurley, formerly a member of the staff of the Boston Post, through the fact that he came to Lowell many times on news assignments for his paper. He died while in training for the commission of an artillery officer at Camp

Zachery Taylor, Louisville, Ky., his death being due to influenza. Nothing has shocked and grieved me more in a long time than the death of this young man, by beloved friend. Hardly more than six weeks ago, in company with his brother Joseph, assistant city editor of the Boston Post, Frank, as we have always called him, came to Lowell to call on me. The three of us repaired to Lakeview and enjoyed a pleasant walk over to Willow Dale and found a pretty little spot among pines, on a point jutting into the water.

Here we fell to "fanning" as newspapermen will invariably do and we talked about those who had gone into service and those who hadn't together with the reasons why they hadn't. Talk about the war started and each of us took his guess at what he believed might happen in the future. Later as it turned out, Frank did not wait for the draft to summarily gather him in. He speeded up events in his own case so that in a short time he started for the great military camp at Louisville. The mother of the Hurley boys is a widow and has been these many years, bringing up her boys to be men of the most sterling character, honored and loved by the hundreds of persons who know them in South Boston, their home. The clean life he lived was Frank Hurley's highest tribute. Neither his name nor his memory needs even the heartfelt and sincere encomiums I would add. Frank Hurley honored his brave and patriotic little white-haired mother, his profession and the community in which he lived.

I understand that when a woman shops at the shoe stores down town she has every intention of paying at least $7 for a new pair of shoes. This price in almost every instance is supposed to insure a purchase which will not prove a disappointment in the course of a few weeks' time. This is, they will wear for a reasonable length of time and retain a good appearance. The woman of today does not as a rule, begrudge paying out this amount in footwear. But, an aggravating thought sometimes comes to the buyer when she compares her purchase with that of some woman friend who succeeded in finding a "bargain" in a shoe of a different style. Then, if she is like most women, she will feel rather down-hearted and vexed to think that she has not been as shrewd in buying, and has demonstrated that she has failed to receive full value for her money. However, this tendency to acquire the art of becoming a bargain hunter is not so prevalent among the young people of today. They expect a fair exchange in merchandise for their money, and thus it would seem that when the government regulates the styles and prices of shoes that it will meet with very general approval among the younger buyers.

NOTHING could stand against the mad-dash of the French and American cavalry on the Marne—the German lines gave way, broke, fled; the day was won.

That fighting spirit of the men of Foch and Pershing, that united purpose—for Victory—must be the spirit, the purpose, of each of us behind the lines.

Paris, Aug. 5.—The Americans covered themselves with glory in the hand-to-hand fighting in the streets of Fismes yesterday when they captured that German base. The fighting is said to have been the bitterest of the whole war, the Prussian Guards asking no quarter and being bayoneted or clubbed to death as they stood by their machine guns.

We must lend as well as they fight. And we must pull together with all the strength we have—now!

We must so order our lives that we can save—to the limit—and lend—to the limit—for Victory. We must put America's whole strength behind our fighting men

ONE POTATO HIS FOOD

Pr. Barnett, U.S.A., Lived
7 Days in Shell Hole and
Was Found Nearly Starved

By EDWARD M. THIERRY
(Paris Correspondent of the Newspaper Enterprise Association.)
PARIS, France, Sept.—Under a baptism of German lead, of hunger
and thirst, Private Barnett of the 4th United States Infantry, came out of a shell hole to tell of seven red
days.
A raw potato was his only food.
Every drop of water had been squeezed from his canteen. Three comrades in his squad of automatic rifemen, who took refuge in the shell hole when a German artillery
and machine gun barrage cut them

off, fell trying to make the American lines.
It was near Pasmca. The trapped squad, observed by the Hun and instantly made the target of machine
gun fire, crouched down and decided to wait for darkness to join their comrades.

Survivors Draw Straws
But the moon came up over the hill and lighted the narrow strip of
of debatable ground. At midnight,
however, a corporal tried to get back.
He fell a few feet from the shell
hole.

Before daylight the next morning
another tried. He fell.
The next afternoon at 4 o'clock
two men were left in the shell hole.
They drew straws. The one drawing
the short straw was to go for help.
Private Barnett drew the long straw.

Two tortuous days Barnett waited.
His comrades did not return.
The fifth day he devoured the remainder of a raw potato he had harvested from a potato patch a few days before. But his canteen was dry; it had been drained the second day.

Despairs of Rescue

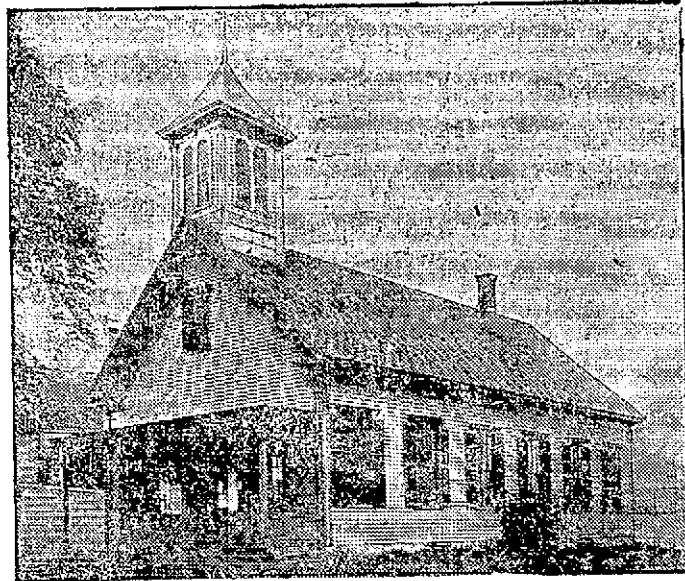

Things turned black the sixth day.
Private Barnett sank down and could not rise. He despaired of rescue.
The fortunes of Private Barnett the seventh day. An observer with the replacement unit saw something lying
in a shell hole between the American and German lines. His glasses showed it to be an American soldier.

The night of the seventh day, a sergeant and three men crept out to investigate. They found Barnett—a boy of wasted frame, unconscious,
pale as chalk and limp. The sergeant
thought he had been gassed.
But it wasn't gas nor was it shrapnel injury. It was worse. Private Barnett told what scraps of his story he could remember. And he will be out of the hospital shortly to rejoin his unit—for revenge on the Hun.

FIREBUG AT TEWKSBURY

Authorities Believe Loss of Town Hall and Church
Due to Entering of Kitchen

The early Sunday morning fire at Tewksbury Centre which completely destroyed the splendid old Colonial

Congregational church and the one-story town hall building near it, furnishing by all odds the worst and most spectacular fire the town has had in half a century, has a mystery connected with it, inasmuch as all explanations fail to give satisfaction in regard to how the fire started except that it must have been of incendiary
origin.

Nearly every person in the town believes the fire was set and the investigation now in progress has started with that theory in view. Most people believe
the fire was started, either accidentally or otherwise, by strangers who crawled inside the church and started a fire in the gas stove. It is not believed that any local person set the fire as there is no known object for

this being done.

It is said no one had been in the church for the past two weeks. The firemen believe the fire started in the church kitchen where there is a gas range. There has been no fire in the church for any purpose for two weeks.
The only supposition left is that some unknown person or persons secured
entrance to the church kitchen, knowing there would be no one in or about
the church on account of its having
been closed by the influenza epidemic,
and started a fire in the gas stove, from
which fire the blaze which finally burned the structure, may have started.

Flames coming from within the church were first seen by Mrs. Alden
Haines whose home windows command
a view of the church. This was at 2.30
a. m. Sunday. Mrs. Haines immediately notified Mrs. Clarence Foster
who has a telephone and who succeeded in calling the town firemen.

The chief of the Tewksbury fire department, Stanley McCausland, seeing with how serious a fire his small department was confronted, immediately
called on the Lowell and Billerica departments for help which was quick forthcoming. If it had not been for the prompt arrival of this outside help
there is no doubt but what the entire village of Tewksbury Centre would have been wiped out. The water supply to fight the battle with the flames
was pumped from a brook some hundreds of feet up the road.

Not the least important phase of this
fire was the fact that with the town
hall on fire the highly important records and data connected with the work which has been carried on by ex-emption board No. 19 with its headquarters at Tewksbury Centre, were seriously endangered. The draft board records were removed from the office
of the board in the town hall by Clarence
Foster, Dr. H. M. Larrabee and
Walter Robinson, and taken across the street to a place of safety in the Enoch Foster house, which is to be the temporary office of this board.

The pretty square around which the houses at Tewksbury Centre cluster,
presents a very different appearance
now. Not a stick of the old white Congregational church remains. It is estimated it would cost more than $50,- 000 to replace it. There was only $11,- 000 insurance carried on the church, and its organ. The horse sheds in the rear were also burned and there was an insurance of $1000 on them. The town hall was insured for less than $4000. The vault in it containing important and valuable records
was found after the fire, to have been preserved intact and safe.

It is understood a thorough investigation will be made by the town authorities and that possibly the state police will be called in to assist. There is a store a short distance from where
the fire occurred called Fairgrave's store and the storekeeper becoming alarmed, moved out practically his entire stock, afterward moving his merchandise back when he was told there
was no further danger.

SPANISH INFLUENZA

French Scientists Succeed in Isolating Infectious Agents Which Cause Disease

PARIS, Sunday, Oct. 13.—(Havas).—Two French scientists have succeeded in isolating the infectious agent which causes Spanish influenza, according to a Tunis dispatch to the Matin.

OFFICER M. J. CLANCY VICTIM OF GRIPPE

The news of the death of Police Officer Michael J. Clancy, which occurred Saturday afternoon, has caused sincere sorrow among those who had the pleasure of his acquaintance. Mr. Clancy possessed many admirable traits of character. Gentle, modest, unassuming, truthful, upright, well educated, he was a true friend and always a gentleman. Wherever known, he was loved and esteemed. Although a man of splendid health and physical proportions, he has been the first officer of the department to be stricken by the prevailing epidemic. He was aged 45 years. The expressions of sorrow elicited by the news of his death, especially along the beat on which he was well known, indicated the esteem in which he was held, even where a man of less genial temperament might be regarded with coldness and dislike. It is understood that when the deceased felt the first symptoms of the disease, he did not yield but continued at work until his illness compelled him to give up. Officer Clancy had been on the police force for 17 years. He came here from Ireland in 1899 and belonged to one of the best families in that country. One that had lost landed estates and suffered persecution through patriotic effort to improve conditions throughout the island. He is survived by four brothers, James J. of this city; Thomas of New York; John and Daniel of Ireland; three sisters, Miss Minnie Clancy and Mrs. Martin Murray of this city and Miss Della Clancy; his mother and two nieces, in Ireland. The body has been removed to the home of his sister, Mrs. Martin Murray at 30 Congress st.

Officer Clancy was a member of the Lowell Lodge of Elks and several other societies, including Division 11, A.O.H., and the Police Relief association. In his quiet way he performed many laudable acts of charity for destitute families with whom he came in contact in the course of his daily duties. His loss is deeply deplored by his police associates with whom he was a general favorite.

SUN BREVITIES

Rest printing. Tobin's Associate bldg. Fire and liability insurance. Daniel J. O'Brien, Wyman's Exchange. A recuperative diet in influenza. Horlick's Malted Milk, very digestible. Raymond D. Hart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. Hart, of Colonial avenue, left Friday night with the Harvard unit for Camp Lee, Va. He attended the summer session of the Harvard R.O.T.S. at Lancaster.

Mr. Dexter Park of the Butterfield Printing company left this city Friday for the Officers' Training school at Camp Lee, Virginia. Before leaving he was presented a wrist watch by his fellow employees.

Rev. Leon Lamothe, O.M.I., takes exception to a statement in a morning paper to the effect that all Catholic churches hold services yesterday. Fr. Lamothe is pastor of Notre Dame de Lourdes church in branch street and in compliance with the order of the board of health, he said, no services were held there Sunday.

Dr. Harry H. Sumner of 294 Wentworth avenue, this city, has been promoted from first lieutenant to captain in the United States Medical corps and has been assigned assistant division surgeon of the 55th division now being organized at Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, Ohio. Capt. Sumner received his commission in August, 1917, and was called to service last January.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Johnson have returned to their home in Columbus, O., after spending part of their vacation here in Lowell. On their return trip to Columbus arrangements were made so as to see two of their three sons now in the service of Uncle Sam. Harry of the submarine base, New London and Edward, now at the naval station in Philadelphia. Howard, the third son is with Co. C, 112th Supply Train, Am. Ex. Forces, France. Mr. Johnson is superintendent of the Columbus Power & Light Co. and left Lowell with his family about eight years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard F. Burns of 407 High street have received word that their son, Thomas J. Burns, has arrived safely in France. He left Lowell last July in the first quota for Syracuse, N. Y., and was transferred to Camp Merritt as physically fit for overseas duty. The young soldier was exceedingly gratified to hear that his chance had come to get to the scene of action instead of being kept here for limited duty. Three weeks ago while on a furlough to visit his parents and friends, he declared he never felt better in his life and was enthusiastic about army life as he found it.

Mr. Johnson is superintendent of the Columbus Power & Light Co. and left Lowell with his family about eight years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard F. Burns of 407 High street have received word that their son, Thomas J. Burns, has arrived safely in France. He left Lowell last July in the first quota for Syracuse, N. Y., and was transferred to Camp Merritt as physically fit for overseas duty. The young soldier was exceedingly gratified to hear that his chance had come to get to the scene of action instead of being kept here for limited duty. Three weeks ago while on a furlough to visit his parents and friends, he declared he never felt better in his life and was enthusiastic about army life as he found it.

Law governing the handling of such diseases as influenza and accordingly, the following statement was given out: "Inasmuch as influenza prevailing in epidemic form has been listed by the state board of health as a disease dangerous to the public health it is well at this time that the public in general should be advised as to the principles of the law governing such disease. To wit:

"A. When a physician or a household knows that a person is infected with a disease dangerous to public health, he shall immediately give notice to the office of the board of health.

"Consequently all such information in regard to influenza must be communicated forthwith to the local board of health.

"B. If a disease which is dangerous to the public health breaks out in a town, or if a person is infected with any such disease, the board of health shall immediately provide such hospital or place of reception, and such nurses and other assistance and necessities, as is judged best for his accommodation and for the safety of the inhabitants, and the same shall be subject to the regulations of the board of health; otherwise the house or place in which he remains shall be considered as a hospital, and all persons residing in or in any way connected therewith shall be subject to the regulations of such board, and, if necessary, persons in the neighborhood may be removed.

"Following from these extracts of the law, it is evident that all persons interested or demonstrated by the admirable spirit which has invigorated our public organizations to combat influenza and to assist the sick, should lend their energies to the full measure in co-operation with the health authorities under their head, as intended.

Therefore, the public in general, is instructed to send all such notices and all such calls for assistance primarily to the board of health so that these cases may first be noted and distributed to our various public organizations to ensure the most good."

The Church Question
At this morning's meeting of the board of health Mayor Thompson was present for a short time to ask if there had been any change in the board's ruling regarding the suspension of services in all local churches. The mayor said that he had had about 50 telephone calls this morning from people wanting to know if the churches had been re-opened. The mayor was told that there had been no change in the order of the board promulgated last Friday that all churches should suspend services.

Questioned at the close of the meeting as to whether he wished to make any further statement on the church question, Dr. Pierre Brunelle, chairman of the board, replied: "There is nothing further to say. The board of health has ordered all churches to suspend services. Beyond that, I have nothing to say."

Filing Up
The isolation hospital, or, to give it its official present title, "the temporary hospital for influenza patients," is rapidly filling up. Two wards are now opened and the opening of the third seems imminent. The women's departments in both wards are completely filled, there being 12 patients in each ward. There are 12 men in the men's department of the first ward, but only two in the second ward.

"There seems to be a greater call from women patients than from men," said Dr. C. R. Eskey, the federal officer who is in charge of the hospital. "We have room for 10 more men in the two wards that are already open but owing to the demands from women patients, we shall soon have to open the third ward."

Questioned as to the nursing situation at the hospital, the doctor said that at the present time there was one graduate nurse from the state board of health, three from the Lowell General hospital, two from St. John's and two from the State infirmary in Tewksbury. The latter two will have to return to Tewksbury this evening, however.

Dr. Eskey said that two more nurses will have to be secured to take their places and if the third ward is open an additional graduate nurse will be needed. Thus the opening of the final ward is wholly contingent on the arrival of additional trained nurses.

"We have plenty of assistants and helpers," Dr. Eskey said, "but what we need most are graduate nurses who have real training and experience."

Closing Stores
The attention of the board of health has been brought to the fact that some of the local stores are not living up to the board's orders that all stores, except food and drug stores, close at 6:30 at night. It has been decided to bring the matter to the attention of the mayor and, if necessary, have police officers see that the order of the board is enforced.

Middlesex Village Again
The matter of getting the Middlesex village tavern into condition so that laborers who are employed on government work in that vicinity may have a healthy place to live, was brought before this morning's meeting of the board again. It had previously come up at Friday morning's meeting. Dr. Carroll of the board of health said that Dr. Eskey and he had visited the place Friday noon and came away with the understanding that it was to be cleaned up within 48 hours. The owner of the building said that he had previously spent $700 to get it into condition and that in the past 19 years he had made only $300 from it.

Inspector William Connors of the health department again told of conditions there and Mr. Sheehan, a contractor doing government work near the tavern, said that he would do whatever he could to put the place in condition. It was finally decided to give the owner one more opportunity to put the building in a healthy condition.

WELL KNOWN TEACHER GRIPPE KILLS LOWELL

PASSES AWAY

In the death of Cornelius F. Callahan which took place at his home, 31 Georgia street, last night, Lowell loses a faithful public servant, who made matters connected with the public schools his paramount interest for a period of more than 30 years.

Besides being a skilled and conscientious teacher as evidenced particularly by his long service at the Butler school, Mr. Callahan was a man widely known in the community for his geniality, broadness of vision and lively interest in all good movements for the betterment of his neighbors and especially the young men and women of Lowell.

Mr. Callahan's condition of ill health increased some time prior to the closing of the spring term of school last June but by power of his will he kept up his duties at the Butler school until the 1918 class graduated. He has been in particularly poor health this summer and his closest friends felt that he would not be able ever again to take up his beloved profession of teaching. This was increased when it came time to start the fall term in September and it was known Mr. Callahan's battle for his life was going against him.

Private Frederick P. Durant Pickering, son of Samuel A. and Sophie L. Pickering of 59 Hastings street, died Friday evening in Syracuse, N. Y. He had been stationed at Syracuse university for two months.

The Lowell soldier attended the Morey grammar and Lowell high schools and had been employed in the Boston & Maine freight office in Thorndike street previous to his enlistment. He had tried several times to enlist but was rejected because of underweight. Finally he was assigned to Syracuse for special service.

He had passed an examination as an expert automobile mechanic and this would have entitled him to the rank of sergeant upon entering active service. A severe cold, brought on by overwork, terminated in pneumonia and eventually caused his death. His parents were at his bedside when he passed away.

The young soldier was a member of Farragut Camp, S. of V. The body was brought to Lowell yesterday afternoon, escorted by Sergt. Erich Elliott of Indiana.

Establish the Bar of Justice, that our soldiers and sailors are fighting for—run the Flag of All Nations to the top and put all the Military, Naval and Merchant Marine under this Flag and bar all from serving under any other.

Impartial Justice, for and from all nations, under One Flag, is the only logical conclusion of this War—it will have cost a fearful price—must still cost a fearful price, but the future must be made safer and we must never have to fight under National Flags again.

The financial burdens will be so much lighter that not only future generations, but even we shall realize the benefit and the advantage of the new economic conditions.

GRIPPE KILLS LOWELL

BOYS IN SERVICE

The grippe epidemic is causing the death not only of a large number of Lowell's civilian population, but also of the Lowell boys in the national service. No less than five Lowell men have been reported dead within the past day or two because of influenza or one of its allied diseases.

Private Henry Cognac
Mr. and Mrs. Isadore Cognac of 24 White street have received news of the death of their son, Private Henry Cognac, who has been in France with the 76th Division from Camp Devens for some time. As far as is known this is the first death among the Lowell men who went overseas with this division. Private Cognac's death is attributed to broncho-pneumonia.

The Lowell soldier was but 22 years old. Previous to entering the national service he was employed here by the Bay State Cotton Corporation. He was a popular member of the C.M.A.C. Besides his parents, he leaves two brothers, Leonard and Arthur, and three sisters, Mrs. Alfred Mailbox of Lynn and Misses Maria and Flora Cognac of this city.

Private William J. Wilbur
Private William J. Wilbur of this city died Saturday at the Troy City hospital, New York. He was 26 years old. He left Lowell for Westworth Institute, N. Y., some time ago and was later transferred to Westchester arsenal, N. Y. He was a well known member of Court Con. Dixon, Foresters of America and had been employed as a clerk by the J. L. Chaffoux Co. He is survived by a brother, Frank A. Wilbur.

Sergt. Carl E. Fletcher
Sergt. Carl E. Fletcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence W. Fletcher of 99 Butterfield street, a member of the 437th Engineers, Depot Detachment, at Washington, D. C., died Friday at the Walter Reed hospital in Washington. He was 31 years old. Besides his parents he leaves a brother, Harry C. Fletcher.

Private Pickering
Private Frederick P. Durant Pickering, son of Samuel A. and Sophie L. Pickering of 59 Hastings street, died Friday evening in Syracuse, N. Y. He had been stationed at Syracuse university for two months.
